The End of a Dictator

"—yesterday the word of Caesar might Have stood against the world; now lies he there, And none so poor to do him reverence."
—Shakespeare's Julius Caesar

In Milan's Piazza Loretto, the body of Benito Mussolini, his bald head resting on the body of his mistress, Claretta Petacci, lies in death, as Italian Partisan guards keep off crowds bent on further defiling the bodies. Il Duce and his mistress were executed with other Fascist leaders near Como and their bodies taken to Milan to be exhibited to the public. This is a New York Times photo transmitted by radio from Bern, Switzerland.

New Nazi Bid on Way

LONDON, April 30 (AP)—A new surrender offer from Heinrich Himmler, presumably to all three major powers, was understood to be on its way today. British cabinet ministers were ordered to stand by as swiftly moving developments pointed to Germany's collapse. Prime Minister Churchill was reported preparing a statement for Commons tomorrow—May Day—but there was no indication of what he might say. A dispatch from Stockholm quoting the newspaper Dagens Nyheter, said Count Folke Bernadotte, who was described as the man who last week relayed Himmler's offer to surrender Germany to the United States and Britain, had made "a new contact" with the Gestapo head.

The report said Bernadotte returned to Germany Saturday and left the Reich Sunday for Denmark, presumably en route back to Sweden.

(An International News Service dispatch from Bern, Switzerland, to Svenska Dagbladet quoted unconfirmed rumors that Hitler had died at noon Sunday. Death supposedly occurred in the Reichsfuehrer's subterranean headquarters in Berlin.

(A Stockholm dispatch to the London Daily Express said it was reliably reported that Hitler had suffered a stroke last Tuesday and had failed to recover.)

London was outwardly calm, even though a V-E Day announcement was expected at any hour. There was more ministerial activity in Whitehall than there has been in some time.

There were indications that only details of Germany's surrender remained to be worked out. These may concern whether Himmler or any other ranking Nazi chieftain Nazis will be allowed to give up.

This may take a few days, since Moscow is always cautious in announcing the capture of any major place.

Many people say significance in the two reports that Churchill may make a statement in Commons tomorrow and the Russian announcement that the Moscow blackout will be lifted tonight.

London newspapers carried hedlines saying:

"Hitler Dying; War May End Today."

Tanks Speed Mopup in Berlin Ruins

LONDON, April 30 (AP)—Russian tanks have smashed into the Tiergarten, Berlin's Central Park converted into an underground fortress, the Nazi-controlled Oslo radio said today, and Moscow reports said the fall of the capital was imminent.

The newspaper Pravda said the Russians were fighting in the ruins of Unter den Linden, the spacious avenue in the heart of Berlin.

The Hamburg radio, chief Nazi transmitter still broadcasting in Germany, said that "the hard battle for Berlin reached its climax today."

Moscow dispatches said Marshals Zhukov and Konev, commanding Red armies at Berlin, were going all-out for a May Day victory and had thrown in maximum artillery and air power to reduce the strongholds in the center of the city.

By district, this was the general battle line, Moscow said:

1—Northwest, there was fighting along the Spree river near the Lehrter freight yards just opposite the northern edge of the Tiergarten and 700 yards northwest of the Reichstag.

2—In the northern sector, battles raged just south of the Stettiner railway station near the Oranienburger gate to the inner city, about 1000 yards north of the Reichstag.

3 — About the eastern sector there was not much definite information. The Russians were said to be near the Alexander gate.

4—In the southeast bitter fighting was swaying near the Wilhelmstrasse.

5—The southern sector was the scene of hard battles north of Anhalater station near the Potsdamer Platz and Prinz Albrechtstrasse.

6—The western sector battles had reached almost to the edge of the Tiergarten with very heavy hand-to-hand fighting in some places. Many German machine-gun and light field gun positions as well as antiaircraft guns were being used against Russian tanks and infantry.

BULLETINS

WASHINGTON, April 30 (INS)—White House Press Secretary Daniels said today that when there is any actual authoritative surrender of Germany to the Allies it will be announced by the White House.

He said: "Whenever anything can be, with authority, properly released, it will be released."

LONDON, April 30 (AP)—A commentator on the Hamburg radio, the chief remaining voice of Nazi Germany, declared tonight: "Everybody knows that this war is drawing to an end. This is an irrevocable fact."

Himmler Has Second Talk With Bernadotte

MALMO, Sweden, April 30 (AP)—Free Danish press reports said Count Bernadotte, reputed peace intermediary, had conferred with Himmler today at Aabenraa on the German-Danish border.

The report was circulated as two Swedish Foreign Office officials and a Swedish military traffic expert boarded a special plane at Malmo for Denmark, shortly after their arrival by train from Stockholm.

The Swedish newspaper Aftonbladet printed a rumor that Himmler was in Stockholm for direct contact with Allied representatives. The reported Himmler-Bernadotte conference was said to have been the second in two days.

WESTERN FRONT—U. S. Seventh Army troops captured Munich, birthplace of Nazism, against no opposition, while other important cities including Milan, Genoa, and Venice in Italy and Oberammergau, scene of the Passion Play, fell in order. 27,000 Allied prisoners of war were rescued by U. S. Third Army units at Moosburg, northeast of Munich. Zerbst and Lauenberg, on the northern front, also fell to Allied armies. Berlin has been nearly cleared by the Russians.

11,000 Americans in 110,000 Freed at Biggest Nazi Camp

By EDWARD D. BALL

U. S. THIRD ARMY, April 30 (AP)—The U. S. 14th Armored Division liberated 110,000 Allied prisoners of war at Stalag 7A at Mossburg, instead of the 27,000 previously reported. This was Germany's biggest prisoner of war camp.

The roster included the names of 11,000 Americans. There also were Britons, South Africas, New Zealanders, Australians, Poles, Russains, Frenchmen and Yugoslavs, and some war correspondents. The first accounts gave no names.

The Mossburg camp was taken by the 14th Armored Division's 47th Tank Battalion which found 19 of its own troops there.

Ninth Army Joins Reds; Bitter Battle for Munich

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

PARIS, April 30 (AP)—The American Ninth Army established another contact with the Russians three miles west of Wittenberg today, creating a small new untenable German pocket between their diminishing northern and southern redoubts.

A hard battle was in progress in the south for Munich, birthplace of the Nazi party and largest German city yet entered by the Americans.

The new junction was east of Dessau at Apoliendorf, 51 miles northwest of Reisa in the Dresden-Leipzig area where the Russians and American First Army first met and cut Germany in two. Americans were released for other duties by the new meeting.

Munich still was holding out shortly before noon and small arms fire was increasing. Elements of at least four Seventh Army divisions pressed into the Bavarian capital from north, west and southwest.

Other Seventh Army troops struck deep into the German national redoubt within 12 miles of Innsbruck and 20 of Brenner Pass. Gen. Patch's troops were 3000 feet or more up into the snow-capped Bavarian Alps and had captured the winter resorts of Garmisch-Partenkirchen where the Olympic winter sports were run off.

The joining of Ninth Army and Russian forces was accompanied by a last-minute rush of terrorized Germans, attempting to flee across the Elbe into American lines southeast of Barby. Patrols have been going back and forth from the Elbe for 10 days. Twice the patrols have been halted by accepting too many German prisoners. Some 4500 surrendered last night.

Five divisions of the American Seventh Army, probably 70,000 men in all, were engaged in a stiff battle in the fringes of Munich, where the beer hall from which Hitler started his abortive putsch in 1923 already had been seized.

The Nazis resisted with a curtain of steel, hurled from batteries of antiaircraft, leveled as field artillery. The 42d, 45th, Third, Fourth and 20th Armored Divisions bored into the Bavarian capital from the north and west

Mutiny in Kiel

NEW YORK, April 30 (INS)—Whole companies of German marines have mutinied at Kiel and Nazi elite guards thrown against them failed to establish control, the Stockholm Dagens Nyheter reported today in a dispatch recorded by the OWI.

The mutiny began last night when authorities ordered the marines to entrain for infantry duty at the fighting front in the Hamburt sector, the report stated.

Indications at supreme headquarters were that hostilities in Europe would last—at the most—only a matter of days. Allied armies moved swiftly into the southern and northern redoubts, advancing almost at will in Germany, Austria and Czechoslovakia.

The notorious Dachau concentration camp near Munich was captured, freeing 32,000.

Another camp was captured at Moosburg and 27,000 prisoners set free. A great number were Americans.

Dissolution of Germany's armed forces continued. On Saturday, the Allies of the West captured 74,986 prisoners for an April total of 1,291,738 and an aggregate since D-Day of 2,621,433. The Third Army in nine days has taken 120,000 prisoners to swell its total to 656,000.

Three armies in the south knifing into the German national redoubt were 2475 feet up in the Bavarian Alps at captured Oberammergau, site of the famous Passion Plays.

The Oslo radio said Patton was approaching Linz on the Danube and that Marshal Tolbukhin was driving on that city from the east.

At Mittenwald the Tiger (10th Armored) and Cactus (103rd) Divisions were 33 miles from Brenner Pass.

Meets Death with Deposed Dictator International News Soundphoto

Ignoble Death Of Duce O.K'd

As Benito Mussolini lay sprawled on a Milan pavement today in the most ignoble of deaths, spat upon and reviled by his fellow-men, the Italian government condoned his summary execution, the Milanese crowds jostled for a chance to boot his body — and civilization sighed with relief at the end of a black era.

The bull-necked, chin-jutting little man whose thunderings from a Roman balcony had been cheered by massed thousands such a short while ago, was treated as brutally in death as he had treated others in life. There was no forgiveness, even for his clay.

Later his body was to be taken to the Milan morgue, where three physicians were to go through the formality of pronouncing identification, but now it was at the mercy of the mob. It was kicked. It was pummeled. Vile words were shouted at it, as though in pursuit of his very soul.

Degradation in death was never more starkly dramatized than the people of Milan staged it for the former conqueror of little peoples. Mussolini's head, drilled by an executioner's bullet, rested on the body of his young mistress, the curly-haired Claretta Petacci.

She had consoled him in life. Now he appeared to be asking consolation of her in death. He had given her riches drained from a subjugated people. He had installed her in a magnificent villa, with a private telephone leading into the Palazzo Venezia. He had lifted her from obscurity to the extraordinary status of "great" wantons.

Now his bloody face was close to hers as though in a final whisper—and the Milanese roared with appreciation of their own theatricalism.

Other bodies were there. The bullet-ridden corpses of 16 Fascist henchmen, who had shared with Il Duce the desperate hope of finding a haven from a vengeful world, were lying there, too.

With Mussolini and his youthful mistress, they had been captured and shot Saturday in the little vil-

Argentine, 2 More Soviet States Win Parley Bids

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30 (INS)—Leaders of the United Nations conference voted today to invite Argentina and the two Soviet republics of White Russia and the Ukraine to attend the San Francisco conclave.

The invitations were voted by the executive committee, composed of foreign ministers from 14 nations.

The invitation to Argentina provoked considerable debate and some opposition in the committee. It is understood that some members of the executive committee refrained from voting.

An affirmative vote was taken, however, and the issue immediately transferred into the steering committee, on which all 46 united nations are represented and action in the steering committee is expected to be even more favorable to Argentina than in the executive committee.

The decision to invite Argentina represents a distinct defeat for V. M. Molotov, Soviet Foreign Commissar, and a distinct victory for the Latin-American bloc, aided by the U. S. and Britain.

The Latin-American countries solidly supported Argentina. Only three of them—Mexico, Brazil and Chile—were represented on the executive committee. All 19 are on the steering committee.

The executive committee, which dominates the conference, includes besides the Latin-American countries, the U. S., Britain, Russia, France, China, Australia, the Netherlands, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Iran, and Canada.

The actual invitations will be extended by the conference itself at its afternoon session. The conference's action, however, will be a mere ratification of the committee's action.

Raise to 12,000 Phone Workers

Approximately 12,000 employes of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. will receive pay increases of $2.50 a week as the result of a War Labor Board decision, the company announced today.

The raises will go to telephone operators and other employes of the traffic department and will increase the payroll by approximately $2,500,000 a year, officials said.

The pay tilts will be retroactive to Jan. 1. They were made possible by WLB approval of an application jointly presentd by the New England Federation of Telephone Operators and the company.

Originally, through their union, the operators had asked for an increase of $4 weekly. WLB approval followed lengthy hearings.

Officials of the company said minor upward adjustments had also been approved by WLB in the wages of some other employes.

Passenger Tire Quota Unchanged

WASHINGTON, April 30 (INS) The OPA announced today that one million passenger tires, including motorcycle tires, will be available for rationing in May unchanged from the April quota.

Some increase over April allocations were granted in the truck and bus tire category and small increases for tractor-implements.

Gen. Clark Reveals End of War in Italy

By LYNN HEINZERLING

ROME, April 30 (AP)—Gen. Mark Clark, 15th Army group commander, today announced the virtual end of the long and bloody campaign in Italy.

Declaring the German armies in Italy have "been virtually eliminated as a military force," he said 25 divisions have been torn to pieces in the 22-day offensive of the U. S. 5th and British 8th Armies. More than 120,000 prisoners have been taken and great quantities of arms and equipment seized.

He said the Germans "can no longer effectively resist our armies," but added scattered fighting may continue.

Four of Italy's greatest cities, Milan, Venice, Turin and Genoa, were in Allied hands.

The Fifth seized Milan, while other American troops dashed to the important port of Genoa, liberated two days earlier by Italian patriots. The British captured Venice.

The Fifth Army entered Turin today when the 442nd regiment, composed of American troops of Japanese ancestry marched in to the great industrial city and found it completely under control of Italian patriots.

An Allied communique today said the Germans were fighting desperately north of Lake Garda, near the Brenner Pass, but said the enemy lines were disorganized.

Allied night bombers ranged the roads in the area of Lake Garda and Lake Como, hunting out German forces which have taken refuge in the foothills of the Alps.

Pilots reported some stretches of road in the north were black with the smoking hulks of German transport.

Allied headquarters announced that negotiations were in progress for the surrender of the Fascist Ligurian army of Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, whose capture has been officially disclosed.

Spaatz Air Force Heads for Japan

PARIS, April 30 (AP)—Strategic bombing has finished its job in Europe and its forces, personnel and planes, will be shifted to the Pacific to the extent they can be used there, Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, U. S. Strategic Air Force commander in Europe, declared today.

Spaatz was speaking specifically of the Americans, but in answer to a question as to British bomber command participation in the Pacific theater he said, "it certainly can be assumed our Allies will take full part in the war there, too."

Yanks Liberate 32,000 In Dachau Horror Camp

By HOWARD COWAN

DACHAU, Germany, April 30 (AP)—The U. S. 42d and 45th Divisions captured the infamous Dachau prison camp today and freed its 32,000 captives. Two columns of infantry riding tanks, bulldozers and long Tom rifles—anything with wheels—rolled down from the northwest and surprised the S. S. (Elite Corps) guards in the extermination camp shortly after the lunch hour.

Scores of S.S. men were taken prisoner and dozens were slain.

The American Doughboys were quickly joined by "trusties" working outside the sprawling barbed wire enclosure. Poles, Frenchmen and Russians seized S.S. weapons and turned them against their German captors.

Officials said the Nazis recently moved several distinguished inmates, including Marshal Stalin's son Jacob Djugashvili, captured on the Russian front in 1941; former Austrian Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg and his wife, and the German anti-Nazi Protestant leader, Pastor Martin Niemoeller.

Three princes also were reported moved, among them Frederick Leopold and Xavier de Bourbon de Parme.

Prisoners who said they'd had access to the records and inner workings of the camp, said 9000 internees died of hunger or disease or were shot during the past three months and that 14,000 more had perished during the winter.

Typhus cases were scattered throughout the camp. The water supply of the city was reported contaminated from 6000 graves on high ground which drained into the Amper river.

The GIs stormed through the camp with tornadic fury.

Not a stone's throw from a trainload of corpses lay the bleeding bodies of 16 SS men shot down as they fled the tommy-gunning Yanks.

In SS barracks food was still cooking in the kitchen. One SS officer was slumped over in a plate of beans, a bullet through his head. Nearby was a telephone with the receiver down and the busy signal buzzing.

Outside the powerhouse were the bodies of two S.S. men slain by a Czech and a Pole working in the engine room.

The Rainbow Infantry meanwhile reached the barbed wire enclosure covering acres of ground.

A Swiss Red Cross representative and two S.S. officers came out of the building behind a white flag.

"The Red Cross man said the real heads of the camp had fled and placed these two fellows in charge of the camp last night," Brig. Gen. Henning Linden of Minneapolis said.

"I accepted their surrender, loaded the three in a jeep, drove them down to the train and made them look. One S.S. fellow asked for safe custody."

Infantrymen of the 157th Regiment, 45th Division, reached the gate about the time Lt.-Col. Donald Downard, Olympia, Wash., commander of the 2nd Battalion, 222nd Regiment, 42nd Division, did.

Jan Yindrich, British war correspondent, and I a few minutes later saw the same thing that greeted the soldiers—39 open-type railroad cars standing on a siding which went through the walls of Dachau camp.

At first glance the cars seemed loaded with dirty clothing. Then you saw feet, heads, bony fingers. More than half the cars were full of bodies, hundreds of bodies.

Downard was driving a jeep along a string of cars when a soldier shouted: "Come here, quick, colonel, here's a live one!"

Downard climbed over the pile of bodies to one man, his neck so small and shrunken it scarcely seemed capable of holding a head. He put the man in his jeep and took him to a hospital, where plasma is keeping him alive.

The best information we could get was that this trainload of prisoners — mostly Poles — had stood on the tracks several days and most of the prisoners had simply starved to death. Others had been shot through the head. Clothing had been torn from some, and their wasted bodies bore livid bruises. Some had tried to escape; their bodies lay along the tracks five or six steps away. One, shot through the head, was astride a bicycle.

The main part of the camp, where 32,000 skinny men and women were jammed into wooden barracks, is surrounded by a 15-foot-wide moat through which a torrent of water circulates. Atop a 10-foot fence is charged barbed wire.

When Lt. Col. Will Cowling of Levenworth, Kan., Gen. Linden's aide, slipped the lock in the main gate, there still was no sign of life inside this area. He looked around for a few seconds and then a tremendous human cry roared forth. A flood of humanity poured across the flat yard—which would hold half a dozen baseball diamonds—and Cowling was all but mobbed.

He was hoisted to the shoulders of the seeting, swaying crowd of Russians, Poles, French, Czechs and Austrians, cheering the Americans in their native tongues.

The joyous crowd pressed the weigh of thousands of frail bodies against the wire, and it gave way at one point. Like a break in a dam, they rushed out, although still penned in by the moat.

Two SS guards fired into the mass from a tower, betraying their presence.

American infantrymen instantly riddled the Germans. Their bodies were hurled into the moat amidst a roar unlike anything ever before heard from human throats.

Inside the barracks were more than 1000 bodies—some shot by guards in a wild melee last night, others victims of disease and starvation.

Inside as well as outside were gas chambers with adjacent crematory ovens. Sid Olsen of Time Magazine, Walter Riddler of the St. Paul Dispatch and I followed a fresh trail of blood into a building with a huge smokestack.

Almost 100 naked bodies were stacked neatly in the barren room with cement floors. They had come from a room on the left marked "Brausebad" (shower bath).

Wants All 46 Nations to Give Japs Ultimatum

WASHINGTON, April 30 (INS)—Sen. Homer Capehart (R.) of Indiana today called on 46 United Nations to join at San Francisco in an unconditional surrender ultimatum to Japan.

"The United States and a few other nations should no longer be expected to carry the full burden against Japan," Capehart declared in a Senate speech.

"Right now in San Francisco the 46 United Nations are forming plans to join together in suppressing any aggressor nation.

"What a wonderful thing it would be if these 46 nations now would issue an ultimatum to Japan that unless it surrenders unconditionally within a certain period of time all 46 nations would agree to declare war on Japan and each help in some measure in furnishing men and materials.

"If all are equally sincere in their hate of tyranny and equally passionate in their love of freedom let them demonstrate it now."

6 Nurses Among Mercy Ship Dead

GUAM, April 30 (AP)—American doughboys, enraged over a Japanese pilot's suicidal attack on a Navy hospital ship evacuating their wounded buddies, fought doggedly today for two airfields—their immediate objectives on southern Okinawa.

The fully-loaded, unarmed, unescorted USS Comfort was attacked and heavily damaged 50 miles south of Okinawa. Twenty-nine were killed, 33 wounded, and one was missing. The dead included six Army nurses and five Army medical officers.

Although the 13,000-ton vessel was readily indentifiable as searchlights played on the giant red crosses painted on her white decks and superstructure, the Japanese pilot made several runs at her preliminary to his attack, reported Associated Press Correspondent Vern Haugland.

These other developments were reported in Adm. Nimitz's communique today:

Total American casualties on Okinawa and nearby islands were 11,413, including 1847 killed, through Friday.

The Japanese sent about 200 aircraft in waves against American forces off Okinawa for 15 hours from Saturday noon until 2:15 a. m. Sunday. They "caused some damage to light units of the fleet" at a cost of 104 attacking planes shot down.

"I think the war is nearing an end—the boss is beginning to talk back to us!"

Doughboys of the 27th Infantry Division captured the northern half of Machinato airfield, 2½ miles north of Naha. The Seventh Infantry Division gained heights overlooking Yonabaru airdrome.

British Near Rangoon; Yanks Close on Davao

By Associated Press

British armored forces set the pace in the Pacific war again today, rolling 26 miles through southern Burma to within 36 miles of Rangoon.

American infantrymen captured Baguio, strongest Jap redoubt in the Philippines, began closing in on Davao, most strongly held city remaining to the enemy in the archipelago, and seized the northern half of the heavily mined Machinato airstrip in a slow but general advance on Okinawa.

Tokyo radio reported Jap suicide planes were attacking American shipping off Okinawa this morning for the fouhth successive day as Superforts raided their bases in southern Japan for the fifth straight day.

Radio Tokyo also made an unsubstantiated claim that 18,300 American troops had been killed or wounded between April 1 and 28 in the battle for Okinawa, and that 38 American ships had been sunk in that area since April 15, including four aircraft carriers and two cruisers.

Wife's Suit Reveals Hubby's $200,000 Threat

Under threat of involving his wife in a "messy public scandal," and to restore his "self-respect" after their 25 years of marriage, John J. Walker, formerly of Norwood, demanded an immediate settlement of $200,000 from her, according to testimony in Dedham Probate Court today.

The wife, Mrs. Clara Berwick Walker, wealthy and socially prominent president and treasurer of the Berwick & Smith printing company of Norwood, was in court in her petition seeking a decree that she is living apart for justifiable cause.

Mrs. Clara Walker

First witness was Atty. Claude B. Cross, counsel for the printing company, who testified Walker came to his office Oct. 10 and left a letter for Mrs. Walker. The letter, admitted in evidence by Judge James F. Reynolds, read in part:

"Clara: Due to conditions in our family life I was literally driven to Boston for a bath. While there I did a great deal of thinking and have reached the realization that my self-respect has been driven so low that I must take steps to hold on to the little I have left.

"While thinking, I discovered a spark of love left for you in my heart. Now I am going to give you a chance to kindle that spark and try and recapture the deep and tender love I gave you for years and which you have so disgracefully and selfishly used.

"Clara, the business, etc., are worth in cash over $500,000, and as your husband half of everything is rightfully and morally mine. Regardless of what you think, I strongly feel you owe me an immediate settlement of at least $200,000. This is some compensation for 25 years which I have spent with you, during which time I have lived a life of extreme denial, terrible degredation and absolute humiliation.

"Should you make the serious mistake of refusing to make a settlement of $200,000 on me, I shall take any steps that, may be necessary to obtain for myself the said amount or more.

"In view of the facts, a sense of security is absolutely necessary for me to gain back my self-respect.

"Without my self-respect I do not see how I can offer you my protection and love. In the name of everything you hold dear, I sincerely hope you will do as I ask so as to avert a possible messy public scandal."

The hearing is continuing.

Husband Suicide Ends Child-Bride Romance

In Norwood Hospital where she is critically ill of lobar pneumonia, Mrs. Geraldine Helen Jordan Murphy learned today th at death had ended a romance that had made her a child-bride at 14 in 1937, and that had endured despite arrests, court action, parental objections and separations.

Although her condition is serious, her physician, Dr. Charles Lynch, informed her that her husband, Joseph R. Murphy, 27, was found dead Saturday in a gas-filled room of a Tremont st., South End, lodging house. Dr. Timothy Leary, medical examiner, has recorded his death as a suicide.

Joseph R. Murphy

The couple's only child, Joseph, Jr., 5, is being cared for by Mrs. Murphy's mother, Mrs. John Ally of Andres pl., Norwood, although for several months the boy was at the home of his parental grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Murphy of Filield st., Dorchester.

Identity of Murphy as the husband of the one-time child bride was revealed by a note he left addressed to his wife.

Therein he called himself a "no-good" and expressed deep remorse. The couple had been living together for some time, Murphy wrote his apologies.

Murphy, who was discharged from the Navy about six months ago, registered in the South End lodging house March 26, police said. Another roomer there, Mrs. Maria Gentle, said that Mrs. Murphy visited her huband there a week ago Saturday.

The following day, Mrs. Murphy, who had been living with her parents in Norwood, was admitted to the Norwood Hospital.

Geraldine was 14 and Joseph 20 when they were married in Seabrook, N. H., March 21, 1937, after a brief courtship which began with a meeting in a roller-skating rink. Their wedding resulted in court action against both but the charges were finally dropped by the bride's parents.

Funeral services for Murphy will be held tomorrow from the Bernard Kelly & Son funeral home in Fifield st., Dorchester, followed by a high mass of requiem at St. Peter's Church, Dorchester, at 9 a. m.

Long Sentences For 2 Parolees

Pleading guilty in Suffolk superior court today to a series of holdups in Greater Boston, two Concord Reformatory parolees who were captured by an alert police officer in a speeding El train, were given stiff State Prison terms by Judge Nelson P. Brown.

Thomas A. Kent, 18, of Washington st., Jamaica Plain, was sentenced to 10 to 12 years and his accomplice, Robert P. Duncan, 20, of Pinkert st., Medford, received 5 to 7 years.

A third, Robert J. Rasmussen, 16, of Egleston st., Jamaica Plain, pleaded guilty to one armed robbery charge and was placed on probation for three years.

Special Officer John Gibbons told Judge Brown he nabbed Kent and Duncan after a dramatic scuffle aboard a moving El train. He said Duncan had two revolvers in his pockets and Kent pulled a gun from a shoulder holster during the fight.

Special Law Asked In Realty Tangle

George M. Beede and his home town of Westboroug'h have got themselves so mixed up in a real estate deal they have asked the State to please pass a law straightening them out.

For two years, Beede leased a plot of land from the town, paying $50 a year. Then the town sold it to him for $300. Then Beede sold it. The new owner looked up the deed. It was discovered the land had always belonged to Beede.

The town wants the Legislature to pass an enabling act permitting it to give back Beede's $400.

But even that will not restore everything to an even keel.

When Rep. Carl G. Crockett of that district put the matter up to the legislative committee on municipal finance, the committee asked Crockett to find out how much Beede owes the town in taxes for all the time he didn't know he owned the land.

Divorce to Sailor Accusing Cop

He knocked on the door of his wife's apartment. The door was opened and a Somerville policeman punched him in the jaw and grabbed him by the throat.

That was his greeting on his return from two years' service with the Navy, Earl W. Chambers, 43, of Perry st., Somerville, testified in Middlesex Probate Court today in obtaining an uncontested divorce from Alice G. Chambers, 41, of Massachusetts ave., Cambridge, charging misconduct.

Chambers named Francis E. Higgins of Summer st., Somerville, former policeman, as co-respondent and as the man who assaulted him.

"Higgins knocked me down and held me by the throat," Chambers told Judge Poland. "I heard my wife tell him 'hold him, Ed, until I get dressed and get out of here.'"

He said his wife took their joint saving account of $837, his automobile and personal belongings, during his service in the South Pacific.

Chambers recently obtained a temporary order restraining Mrs. Chambers from disposing of the property.

Higgins was fined $50 on a morals charge and $10 on an assault and batery charge in Middlesex Superior Court. Mrs. Chambers was placed on probation for six months.

Chambers entered the Navy in June, 1942, and was medically discharged last October.

Vatican Envoy Tells of Tokyo Ruin

VATICAN CITY, April 30 (INS)—Monsignor Paolo Marella, apostolic delegate in Japan, stated after visiting the ruins of bombed Tokyo that whole quarters of the city had been razed.

Air raid victims were innumerable, he said. Monsignor Marella also visited a huge cemetery for raid victims.

Truman Appoints Buddy Chief Aide

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP) — President Truman announced today appointment of Edward Daniel McKim, Omaha, Neb., insurance executive, as his chief administrative assistant, a new post.

McKim was sworn in this afternoon with two other Truman appointees: John W. Snyder of St. Louis, as federal loan administrator, and Edwin A. Pauley of California as American member of the International Reparations Commission.

McKim was a member of Battery D of the 129th Field Artillery, 35th Division, in the last war, serving under President Truman, who was a captain in that outfit.

3d Lawrence Son Killed in Battle

LAWRENCE, April 30—For the third time within four months, a War Department telegram has brought the tragic news to Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Campagnone of Chestnut st. that a son has been killed in action on the battlefields of Germany.

The third son to give his life for his country is PFC Bernard Campagnone, 32, member of a field artillery unit in the 9th Army, who, according to the notification, was killed in battle in Germany April 17.

On Dec. 5, the parents were notified that a younger son, PFC Albert Campagnone, 21, had been killed in action, and on March 8 came the news that a second son, PFC Carmen S., 18, had fallen in battle.

Pvt. Bernard, the third son killed in action, was formerly a mill worker here and was inducted into the Army in 1942.

A fourth brother, PFC Anthony, is now fighting in Germany with a field artillery unit.

SAFETY FOR VICTORY—Henry Callahan, a plant manager for the Sylvania Electric Products Co., today received from Lt. Gov. Robert F. Fradford the safety award of the Massachusetts Safety Council at Hotel Statler. Col. Joseph D. Calders (left) was the chief speaker.

Slain by Board Hurled Off Roof

ADAMS, April 30 (INS)—Thomas F. Russell, chairman of the board of selectmen and storm center of Adams politics, was killed March 22 by a 12-foot board thrown on him from a mill roof, according to a report filed today by District Court Judge Henry L. Harrington. Dist. Atty. Charles R. Alberti ordered Chief of Police Edward W. Reid to investigate.

The report of Judge Harrington said the board causing Russell's death was "thrown by human hands from the roof of a chemical company building and directed at Russell. It hit him in a vital spot."

Fish Dealers Ask Charges Be Quashed

Contending indictments charging a group of New Bedford fish dealers with conspiracy to violate the Sherman anti-trust laws were "vague and indefinite," defense counsel declared today, asking Federal Judge George C. Sweeney to quash the charges. He took the motion under advisement.

Named in the indictments were Linus S. Eldridge of East Mattapoisett, William D. Eldridge of Fairhaven, William D. Goulart of Fairhaven, Thomas Aiello, Walter R. Smith, Leo Allen and Frank H. Parsons, all of New Bedford.

Bataan Survivor Called to Capital

A survivor of the Bataan death march and recently liberated from Santo Tomas prison in the Philippines, Donald G. Hanning, 30, of Watertown, Ct., left by American Airlines plane for Washington, D. C., today to confer with Army officials investigating atrocities in prisoner of war camps.

Hanning had been visiting his brother, Joseph Hanning, a resident here. He was in the Philippines on Pearl Harbor Day and joined the Army, commissioned as a lieutenant. He was captured before his papers had been cleared.

500 Hotel Towels Returned by Army

Ten Boston hotels were grateful recipients of 500 of their own towels today, delivered all freshly laundered by the First Service Command to the association secretary, Charles A. Coyle.

The towels were "salvaged" by the Army during visits to Army quarters in various parts of the country.

Clean Getaway

PITTSBURGH, April 30 (AP)—A burglar ransacked the home of Edward Porter and made off with $29, some clothing—and a clean body. But he left a ring—around the tub—after casually taking a bath during the looting.

Yanks Liberated from Nazi Prisons to Be Speeded Home

PARIS, April 30 (AP)—Every American soldier liberated from German prison camps will go home "as fast as the Army can get him there," Supreme Headquarters announced today.

"In return for the German promise to leave the prisoners in the camps in the path of the Allied advance, rather than take them along on forced marches, United States authorities agreed that all liberated personnel would be prohibited from taking further part in the war against Germany, either as combat or service troops, and they are sticking to their part of the agreement," supreme headquarters declared.

The sick and wounded will be given preference and evacuated home through normal medical channels as soon as their condition permits.

A series of evacuation camps have been prepared for the others. They will get baths, hot meals, new clothes and medical attention. Then they will receive part of their back pay, final settlement to be made when they return to America. They may file claims for any money or personal property lost at the hands of the Germans.

On arrival in America each released soldier will get a 21-day furlough. After that he must report to a redistribution center where he may be discharged from service, assigned to a post in the United States or shipped to another war theater. None will be sent back to Europe.

Blazing Bomber Lands at Logan

With a fire blazing in the hatch, a huge four-motor Liberator RAF bomber made a daring emergency landing through fog and rain at the Logan airport today, after fire apparatus and emergency Army facilities had been rushed to the field in the fear the big bomber would crash.

The pilot of the bomber reported the fire had broken out when the plane, en route here from Montreal, was within 45 minutes of the airport, but that the crew had kept the blaze under control. None was injured.

Green Fears V-E Day Slump

WASHINGTON, April 30 (INS)—William L. Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, told President Truman today that he expects "widespread unemployment" to come immediately after V-E Day.

Green said that cutbacks in war production, especially shipbuilding on the Pacific coast, already has resulted in some unemployment which is certain to increase to a large extent "immediately after V-E Day."

". . . and he's the chaplain's orderly."

F. D. Held Example To New Citizens

The highest duty of citizens is to carry on the principles of the late President Roosevelt and adhere steadfastly to the ideals he sought to perpetuate, Judge Arthur D. Healey declared today, welcoming 200 newly qualified citizens in the naturalization court at the federal building.

Officer Charges Hack-Saw Attack

John Worrall, 41, of Highland ave., Somerville, was charged with attacking a patrolman when the latter tried to remove Worrall's wife, Bertha, from a taxi in Porter sq., Sunday morning.

Patrolman Charles Linehan told Judge Arthur P. Stone in East Cambridge Court that Worrall slashed him with a hack-saw, adding that Mrs. Worrall joined in by taking a few swings at him.

Worrall was arraigned on charges of assault and battery with a dangerous weapon, attempted rescue of a prisoner, assault and battery, and drunkenness. He pleaded not guilty and was held in $200 bond for hearing May 7.

His wife pleaded not guilty to assault and battery, disturbing the peace, and drunkenness. She was held in similar bonds for hearing on the same date.

WMC Abandons Textile Draft

Efforts to draft New Bedford workers for jobs in tire cord mills have been abandoned by the War Manpower Commission, Arthur C. Gernes, regional WMC director, announced today.

Gernes said that Paul V. McNutt, WMC chief, dismissed "without prejudice" the appeals of nearly 100 workers who refused to obey the labor draft edict in New Bedford.

He said "new demands on New Bedford's fine goods mills" made abandonment of the forced shift necessary, the industry being given top priority to produce 16 million yards of insect netting, glider cloth, wind resistant sateen, and jungle cloth for the Pacific war theater.

Gernes said the need of 200 skilled and unskilled workers for the Firestone and Fisk tire cord mills still existed but the textile mills demand had to be given preference.

Tito's Slav Troops Reported in Trieste

ROME, April 30 (AP)—Afternoon newspapers published reports today that Marshal Tito's Yugoslav troops had entered Trieste, and a group of Rome students demonstrated at the Viminale Palace in celebration of the liberation of northern Italy, shouting "Viva Italian Trieste!"

Jap Doctor Sees Tokyo's Defeat

TAIRA VILLAGE, Okinawa, April 25 (delayed) (AP)—A middleaged Japanese physician, criticizing his people as "conceited, superstitious dreamers," admitted today the successful American invasion of Okinawa "foreshadows the eventual defeat of Japan itself."

"The war which Japan wages against the great American Army is a war of falsehood against truth, tradition against science, restriction against freedom," wrote Dr. Kosaburo Iyesaka, a civilian who practiced on northern Okinawa for many years.

Dr. Iyesaka now is helping American physicians attend civilians of this village.

Australia to Erect Memorial to F. D.

CANBERRA, April 30 (AP)—The Australian cabinet today announced through Treasurer J. B. Chifley, acting prime minister, the Commonwealth would provide a memorial to President Roosevelt.

Chifley said the memorial would be decided on from the following suggestions: An infantile paralysis clinic; Roosevelt Institute of Pacific Relations, with interchangeable scholarships for students from Australia and the United States; a special wing of the National Library for United States literature.

Victim Identifies Holdup Suspect

Arrested on an indictment charging him with armed robbery of a woman and five men, Americo Simonelli, 25, of Main st., Everett, faced his alleged victims in the police lineup today and police said one man identified him as the holdup man who robbed him at gunpoint last fall.

Americo Simonelli

William Oxman, manager of Associated Concessions Corp., told police Simonelli was one of two men who held up the Tremont st. office Sept. 24 and made off with $2400 in cash and jewelry.

Another Everett man, Edward F. Gersten, 29, of Chestnut st., is awaiting trial on robbery charges in connection with the holdup.

One of the alleged victims was Joe Rubin, former Boston night-club operator, now serving a 10-15 year State Prison term in connection with the fatal shooting of Guy Formica, Stuart st. cafe bartender. He did not appear at today's lineup.

Capt. Dunn, Police Harbormaster, Dies

Capt. Lawrence H. Dunn, 61, harbormaster of the harbor popolice, died today at his home in Preston rd., West Roxbury.

Capt. Dunn, who was born in Boston, began his career as an assistant drawtender at the harbor and joined the police force in 1910. He had risen to the rank of captain by 1938.

In 1910 Capt. Dunn received the department medal of honor for his work during the 1938 hurricane. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Anna J. Dunn. Funeral plans will be announced later.

PARIS, April 30 (AP)—France appeared today to be registering solid support for its Leftist parties on the basis of latest returns from the municipal elections.

Girl Fugitive From R. I. Held

Acting as a one-man detective agency, Bernard Brennan of Pond st., Weymouth, who told police he is an investigator at the South Station, brought about the surrender at police headquarters today of Dorothy Walsh, 18, one of three girls who escaped Feb. 19 from the Industrial School for Girls in Cranston, R. I.

Brennan, who appeared at headquarters with the girl, said he noticed her in South Station, where three men had spoken to her, and had asked her if she were in trouble. She told him she was homeless, and Brennan took her to his own home in Weymouth.

Brennan's wife gave her clothing and food, and shelter for the night. The girl insisted her name was Jane Ayers from North Carolina, but agreed to accompany Brennan to headquarters today.

Questioned by Mrs. Margaret McHugh of the crime prevention bureau, she stuck to her story until confronted with her photograph. She then admitted she had escaped from the school. Authorities in Cranston were notified and were on the way to take her back.

Herriot Is Elected As He Quits Prison

NEW YORK, April 30 (INS)—Edouard Herriot, former premier of France, recently liberated from a German concentration camp near Berlin by Soviet troops, again has been elected mayor of Lyon in today's French general elections, according to a BBC report.

The broadcast also reported Herriot arrived today in Moscow.

OFFICIAL'S SON HELD

LONDON, April 30 (INS)—John Amery, 33-year-old son of Leopold Amery, British secretary of state for India, and accused as an Axis radio propagandist, was reported today to be a prisoner of Italian patriots.

Writer Tregaskis' Father Dies at 66

ELIZABETH, N. J., April 30 (INS)—Archibald Tregaskis, 66, father of Richard Tregaskis, war correspondent for International News Service, died after an illness of nearly a year.

A retired editorial director for the Singer Sewing Machine Co., Mr. Tregaskis was born in Falmouth, Eng., and worked as a youth on the London Times. He came to this country at the turn of the century and was a ship's officer for the Cunard Line before joining the Singer company. He retired last year.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Maude Tregaskis, and Richard, presently detached from active duty as a war correspondent.

Stalin Holds Parley Rule--Von Wiegand

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND

Dean of American Foreign Correspondents

Written Expressly for the Hearst Newspapers

MADRID, April 30—Too much emphasis on success at any cost, and too much and too strong underlining of the fear of the consequences of failure, have given Marshal Stalin the whip hand in San Francisco.

That is the first reaction in some diplomatic circles today to the speeches and discussions at the opening session of the congress of victor nations at San Francisco.

The shadow of the Red dictator appears to hang heavily, darkly and intimidatingly over the city by the Golden Gate.

There is a price too high to pay for the success of the conference.

That price is the sacrifice of justice, and its immutable principles, for illusory success to save the face of statesmen.

There are no first, second and third degrees of justice.

The diplomatic correspondent of the London Times, after long talks in Moscow with Soviet leaders, writes as follows:

"More than any other government, the Soviet government works out its policy completely to the last detail and then presents it, often suddenly, but always with determination.

"The Soviet leaders know their own minds and hold decisively to the views and polices formed out of new strength. Democracy to them is democracy of the left."

Writing of the Soviet directed coup de force, which overthrew the Romanian government in Bucharest, he said:

"Outside of the newspapers, little pretense is made in Moscow that the change came constitutionally. It was a short-cut fitting the needs of the hour."

Evidently the Communist Polish Lublin government and its signing of an alliance pact with Moscow also were short-cuts and fitted well the needs of the hour.

Moscow has given no clue, as yet, to the fate of the 16 Polish political and resistance leaders, including the deputy prime minister and the Peasant Party leader, Witos, who were lured to an alleged conference and have been missing for nearly two months.

Tomorrow's a big day for Boston

Mary Hawkins of Boston is typical of the highly trained hostesses whose graciousness helps to make TWA travel such a pleasure.

TWA starts service to nation's key cities MAY 1st with 3 flights daily

TWA is happy to announce that tomorrow, May 1, transcontinental air service will link Boston with Pittsburgh and the West.

This notable event will bring Boston's men of business closer to those areas of the United States which make up their richest wartime and reconversion markets.

For along TWA's transcontinental route lie most of the great manufacturing points and consuming areas of the Midwest and West.

But there are even broader horizons of travel and trade which this new service will open to Boston.

TWA has before the proper authorities a detailed proposal for a round-the-world airline — a proposal which will make Boston a true "hub of the air universe." TWA's route will link Boston with London, Europe, the East and on around the world.

We are proud of the part our great Skyliners will play in bringing this busy city closer to the areas where its present and future interests lie.

Gift Spurs U. S. History Study

By ALDINE R. BIRD
Special to the Boston Evening American

BALTIMORE, April 30—Responsibility of American citizenship "invites and insures disaster" without knowledge of America's great past, William Randolph Hearst declared upon the establishment of a four-year scholarship and three-year fellowship in the American civilization studies of the University of Maryland by the Baltimore News-Post and Sunday American.

The noted publisher declared it is the duty of the schools and colleges of the nation to teach citizens the history of American civilization, and added:

"With full information and sincere purpose, the obligation of good citizenship can be successfully exercised."

The scholarship, for high school graduates, and the fellowship for college graduates of the nation, were established through the presentation of $50,000 to the University of Maryland by C. Dorsey Warfield, publisher of the Hearst newspapers in Baltimore, on the 82d birthday of Mr. Hearst, and each will bear his name.

In presenting the fund at College Park, Publisher Warfield read the following message from Mr. Hearst:

"I am very happy that the Baltimore News-Post and Sunday American has devoted a part of its available funds to the presentation of a scholarship and a fellowship to the University of Maryland for its admirable course in the history of American civilization.

"This offering is a fine practical expression of the deep and earnest interest which the Hearst newspapers have shown for many years in support of comprehensive courses in American history in the schools and colleges.

"It has always seemed to me that in a democracy, where the citizen is the rightful and final source of all power in government, his most essential study should be the history of his own country—the country he is privileged to govern and obligated to govern wisely and well.

"And since that country has developed from a trackless wilderness to become the greatest and the richest and happiest of all civilized nations in the short space of 150 years, it is his especial duty to learn and know what fundamental principles and sustained policies have made it great and prosperous, and to make sure in his labors of government that these principles and policies shall not be neglected nor forgotten, but shall continue to be faithfully applied in order that the liberties of his great country shall continue to exist and the prosperity and happiness of himself and of his fellow citizens shall continue to increase.

"But responsibility without knowledge invites and, in fact, insures disaster.

"Consequently it would seem that the first duty of the schools and colleges of this American republic is to teach American citizens the history of American civilization.

"And the first duty of the American press is to support the schools and colleges in the education and graduation of good American citizens, and to continue to inform and aid the citizen in after-life in the performance of his vital democratic obligations."

In accepting the gift, Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the university, paid high tribute to the Hearst newspapers and to their publisher in the following telegram to Mr. Hearst at his home in California:

"In accepting the gift of the Baltimore News-Post and Sunday American to establish a fellowship and scholarship in your honor, the University of Maryland is proud to play its part in rediscovering and perpetuating the ideals on which our government has become powerful in world councils and has provided for the American people, rights and liberties and economic advantages such as are enjoyed nowhere else on earth.

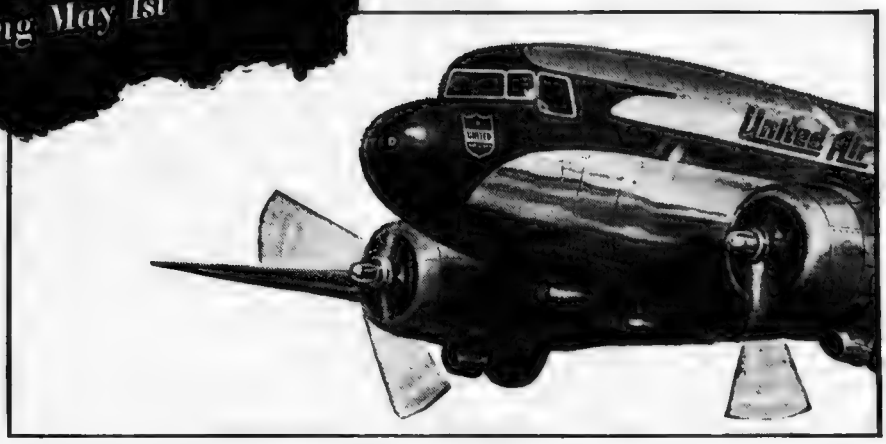
NEW AIR SERVICE

Starting May 1st



DIRECT TO CLEVELAND...CHICAGO...

SAN FRANCISCO...AND "ALL THE WEST"

New England's long dream of a direct east-west, coast-to-coast air service which would eliminate the detour via New York is now a reality.

New England, for the first time, will have the advantages of direct east-west Mainliner Service from Boston and Hartford straight through to Cleveland, Chicago, Omaha, Denver, San Francisco, Seattle and "All The West."

In conjunction with this new service, United announces new reduced fares—the lowest in history—which will mean greater savings in money as well as in time and mileage from New England to many key cities across the country.

United—the nation's first coast-to-coast airline—offers busy wartime travelers fast flights over the Main Line Airway to the 28 major business and industrial areas of the country. It is the route that goes where you want to go.

Make United's new ticket office—conveniently located in the Statler Hotel—your air travel headquarters. Or call us for information and reservations.

Veteran's Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—Has a mother the right to apply for family allowance for her child when her husband is the stepfather of the child, and the child receives some support from its own father? S. V., Augusta, Me.

A—Yes. The stepchild of a soldier is entitled to family allowance, as it is a member of the soldier's household, even though support is paid by the natural father.

Q—If the divorced wife of a soldier was awarded $20 a week alimony and support for a minor child, will she receive the $80 family allowance? And if so, where should the application be filed? E. D. M., Centerville.

A—The divorced wife is entitled to family allowance when alimony is awarded by court. The maximum amount payable to a divorced wife is $42, even though the court order may call for more than that. When alimony and support are awarded in a lump sum for both wife and child, 60 per cent of it is considered alimony. In this case it would amount to $52 a month. You would receive the $42 allowed a divorced wife, plus $30 for the child, a total of $27. Application blank and detailed information for filing may be obtained from Headquarters, First Service Command, 808 Commonwealth ave., Boston.

Q—My wife refuses to live where I want her to, and does not take good care of my children. Can I stop her family allowance? E. C., Ayer.

A—No. The wife of a serviceman receives the allowance as long as she is his legal wife.

Q—I was discharged six months ago for a disability. Now I have overcome the disability. Is it possible for me to re-enter the service? J. T., Brighton.

A—You should discuss the matter with your local draft board, as it comes under their jurisdiction.

Q—What is the pay of a first lieutenant (married), if he is overseas?

A—His base pay is $166.66; rental $75; subsistance $42; also 10 per cent of his base pay for overseas duty, $16.67; a total of $300.33.

Honor Mothers Of 18 War Dead

Eighteen Gold Star Mothers of the Blessed Sacrament parish, Saugus, will be honored at the annual parish reunion in Town Hall Friday, at 8 p. m., when Maj. John J. Dugan, U. S. Army chaplain, will present them with parish memorials.

The reunion program has been especially arranged by Rev. Thomas J. Ford, pastor, and his assistants, Rev. James J. Fallon and Rev. John D. Hausman, to pay tribute to all members of the parish in the armed services.

Maj. Dugan, guest of honor, Jesuit priest liberated after 34 months in prison camps in the Philippines, will confer special honors on Mr. and Mrs. George C. Buckless of Beacham ave., parents of seven sons in service.

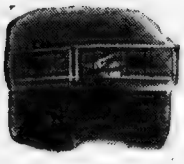
LET'S KEEP AMERICA STRONG IN THE AIR!



America invented the airplane . . .

. . . and yet the most disastrous defeat we ever suffered in our entire history was when Japan attacked us at Pearl Harbor . . . with our own invention.

The truth of the matter is this: Having invented the plane, we were content to remain a second-rate power in the air . . . and we were caught napping.

Who will save us next time?

Germany spent 10 years building up her Luftwaffe—then she struck.

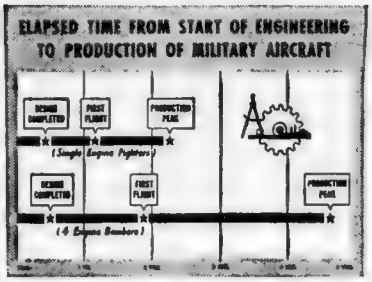
Hitler used 3000 planes in a single campaign—the cowardly conquest of Poland. Yet, even later, when Japan pulled her sneak attack, America had a total of only 1157 planes fit for combat.

All this time, America had no well-defined air program. We had to start almost from scratch, frantically building up strength in the air while Britain held off the enemy.

Time—the Joker in Air Power

We learned that it takes time to develop a military plane. It took 7 years to produce America's first long-range heavy bomber—and 3 years to produce the Liberator bomber in quantities, even though Consolidated Vultee had years of experience building mammoth sea planes.

More by good luck than our people's foresight, a new fighter plane, designed in 1936, started coming off the production lines in 1941. And another fighter was almost ready for mass production at the time of Pearl Harbor.



Today—only at a terrific and needless cost in money and lives—we are finally strong in the air. Stronger than any other nation on the face of the globe.

Air Power for War . . . and Peace

After Victory is won, if we forget some of the lessons we have learned so painfully in this war, we can easily drift back again to the status of a second-rate power in the air.

Dare we rely on such a hit-or-miss air program next time?

America cannot hope to remain strong among the nations of the earth unless Air Power is maintained during peace years as well as when at war.

No one denies that to maintain American air supremacy, our military planes must excel those of any other nation.

But military air strength is only one important phase of Air Power . . .

The necessity for waging war on a global scale has opened our eyes to the role which air transport has played in supplying our fighting fronts, from China to the Rhine.

Tomorrow, huge transport planes — An American Merchant Fleet of the Air—will open up new areas of natural resources, and help bring about a mutual appreciation of peoples in once-remote lands. The plane will be an important factor in promoting a relationship under which nations can live together peacefully.

A Nation on Wings

Since the turn of the century, America has been a "nation on wheels." Even more important, the automobile made us a mechanically minded nation. This was a good thing, when war came.

For, the mechanical knowledge gained from tinkering with a $10 jalopy has given thousands of American boys the aptitude to become the world's finest airplane pilots and mechanics.

Now, overnight, we have become a "nation on wings." The Air Age is here. When the war is finally over, many thousands of people in this country will take to the air—in their own small personal planes.

Today, a 60-Hour-Wide World

A nation which thinks and works in terms of Air Power has taken a long first step toward insuring a lasting peace—for air strength is a force which aggressor nations fear and respect.

Today, under the impetus of war, the aircraft industry has become five times bigger than America's vast prewar automobile industry. It is turning out planes at the rate of over 6000 a month.

Our aircraft industry must remain strong, and competitive. And it must constantly work in research and technological advance, even after Victory.

And finally, we must teach our children—and we ourselves must never forget—that the world is now one global community in which no spot on earth is more than 60 hours' flying time from our local airport.

Millions of air-minded young Americans, who will soon be returning from overseas, know that this is why we must keep America strong in the air!

NAZI HORROR CAMPS

MR. JOHN R. HEARST, representing the Hearst newspapers, recently accompanied a group of eighteen American publishers and editors who flew to Germany at the special request of General Eisenhower to "see for themselves" the evidence of Nazi atrocities in concentration camps overrun by the American armed forces.

He reports that all of the members of the party were "fearfully shocked" by the experience.

General Eisenhower knew they would be shocked, and he told them that his purpose in asking them to view the frightful scene was to make it possible for them "to give the American people the bare unvarnished truth of the horrors that were perpetrated under the Hitler dictatorship."

It is surely of the utmost importance that the American people, and indeed all of the decent and responsible people of the civilized world, should know the TRUTH of this matter.

The American people remember, and General Eisenhower well knows, that there was gross exaggeration and misrepresentation about atrocities in the last war, and that there was ultimate and inevitable refutation—and that consequently there is a natural skepticism in the public mind about atrocities in this war.

But General Eisenhower knows that THIS TIME the atrocities are not fiction.

He and his men were the first to see what Mr. Hearst has now seen and reported as "the grisly stack of corpses flung in a heap for disposal—a disposal which had never taken place due to the rapid approach of the American forces."

HIS PROBLEM was to make the people at home BELIEVE that such evil things had been done—things that in the understanding of decent and civilized people are almost beyond belief.

It was not his purpose that the American people should know these things and believe them in order that they might fight harder in the war, and thus more quickly win the war.

This is not necessary, because the disclosure of the Nazi horror camps has come at a stage of the war when victory is assured and virtually achieved.

It was not his purpose to make the American people HATE their enemies with greater intensity in order that vengeance might be exacted—because hate and vengeance have no curative powers in a sick world.

HIS REAL PURPOSE IS TO SET IN MOTION, IF POSSIBLE, THE HUMAN AND SPIRITUAL FORCES WHICH MAY PREVENT SUCH EVIL THINGS FROM EVER HAPPENING AGAIN.

That is what will be IMPORTANT after this war.

HOW AND WHY did human minds ever become depraved and deranged to the extent, as Mr. Hearst writes, that "the Nazis had deliberately sponsored starvation as a means of eliminating those inmates who had to be got rid of for political reasons, and some of the lesser folk no longer able physically to continue their slave labor?"

How can such depravity and derangement be guarded against in the future?

General Eisenhower does not pretend to know the answers.

BUT HE DOES KNOW THAT IF ENOUGH DECENT AND RESPONSIBLE PEOPLE THROUGHOUT THE WORLD KNOW THE TRUTH THEY WILL FIND THE ANSWERS, SINCE THAT IS THE ONLY WAY HUMAN DECENCY AND DIGNITY CAN EVER PREVAIL IN THE WORLD.

That is why he wanted representative American publishers and editors to "see for themselves" and report the facts in a manner that will prevent their repetition.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Don't you think you should stop talking about your dog? A—Maybe you're right. I'll talk about other people's dogs for a change. I know a fellow who has a cocker spaniel which, when anybody in the family is sick, jumps on the bed and examines them carefully as a doctor would. The family calls this pup "Dr. Kildare." Q—Can your Mules & Men Department tell me what to do with a husband who stubbornly refuses to try to make himself a better dancer? A—This is a problem that has baffled thousands of wives. Our Mules & Men experts are somewhat baffled by it, too. Anybody know of a wife who managed to get her husband interested in improving his skill at tripping the light fantastic? How did she do it?

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30—Here, my friends, in San Francisco, may be observed at this writing a spectacle which probably would be rejected as a fantastic distortion and a self-defeating exaggeration if it were done into a movie or play as a satire on freedom of expression.

Westbrook Pegler

I refer to the coverage of the United Nations Conference on International Organization, including not only our daily press and their press associations, but the magazine press, the radio and the news reels and our guests from beyond the seas.

We are a sketch. Estimates of our number vary between 900 and 1200 but, whatever a reliable census would show, we are, I truly believe, the mightiest aggregation on the basis of manpower, and I delicately refrain from raising any question of brain-power, that ever pounced on a story, in a mass anywhere in the world.

It might be admitted, parenthetically, just here, that there is some doubt just now as to just who did the pouncing because I have a feeling that the story has pounced us and has got us down.

Mr. Molotov, the foreign commissar of Soviet Russia, held a press conference the other day at which he was more or less expected to answer questions. As one who abhors the installation of the Soviet system of government, which is a dictatorship, in our own country, whether by creeping political means or violent insurrection, I must admit that our distinguished guest had a right to reflect during this strange experience that they do such things rather better in Russia, however they do them.

WE ARE ALL kinds, including straight reporters with an amazing ability to follow a scent through the crowds, ignoring the picturesque dietary customs and the night-shirt attire of the Arabs, who are said to have brought their own goats and to sleep on the floor in their hotel quarters, and to come up with accurate information and quick, unpretentious appraisals of the meaning of the news at the moment.

This kind do not attempt to interpret for posterity. They do not tell you whether this or that huddle or disagreement means that 20 years hence civilization will obliterate itself with explosive PLANETS hurled from Siberia plunk into the middle of Chicago and London and from New York into Moscow.

If Eden comes out of a room smiling, that does not mean peace in our time but, at most, that someone may have told him a hot one. Or he may have been thinking of Il Bum, Benito Mussolini, who called him a sissy ten years ago because he wore his handkerchief in his sleeve, and caused a hotel in Rome to stop calling itself the Eden, even though it was so called after the well-known garden of the same name.

Mr. Eden's earliest ancestors are said to have lived in the garden, which may be a fact for some of those old English families trace way back. If Stettinius frowns, that does not mean war again, but, at worst, that his feet are beginning to hurt.

★ ★ ★

SUCH REPORTERS are coverage. They are the essential men. If none of the rest of us was here, the world would still get the story and probably understand it better, delivered straight, as news, without argument or interpretation. The hotels and the transportation then would have room for the parents and wives of departing and returning warriors and the locals would have more to eat.

We include, also, a humorist, poor fellow, sent all the way from the Eastern seaboard to find mirth in a Congress toward which millions of bleeding hearts are yearning for some faint hope of blessed peace.

We include a professional magpie who wrote chattily: "I spoke to Sen. Vandenberg last night"; ideological press-agents who try to partake of immortal greatness by attesting that they always strove to comfort Franklin D. Roosevelt and rebuke his enemies; pundits, one of whom, himself, held a press conference in a hotel lobby, and disembodied intellects so aloof from the distracting realities of living that they can't type their own messages to humanity and, for that reason, had to bring their secretaries.

★ ★ ★

WE OF OUR SET have been giggling in a back-of-the-hand way at the solemn Russian rough-necks, so like the sub-human robots of Capek's play, "R. U. R.," who guard Mr. Molotov and almost tote him where he goes, at the Arabs and a few others who are, to our eyes and manners, quaint.

But it takes a braver character than mine to give even the flick of a thought to the terrifying question of what they think of us.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 30—I nabbed Joan Fontaine between a house hunting spree (she may sell her house if she can find another) to ask if it were true she is to be Sam Goldwyn's heroine in "Earth and High Heaven."

"I hope it's true," she said. "I would love to make a picture for Sam. I have great respect for his ability as a producer, and I love the story, but of course it is up to David Selznick, who owns my contract until June 1."

Joan Fontaine

Sam, I happen to know, has his pen all ready to sign Joan as soon as her Selznick boss says yes. Only as short a time ago as April 22 "Earth and High Heaven" got top spot in the New York Times book review list. There is also a whisper Gregory Peck gets the other top role in the picture. You didn't know I knew this, did you, Sam?

AN OUTSTANDING feature of the San Francisco Conference is the newsreels photographed by the State Department and sent to each of the 46 countries represented, so they may have an idea of what goes on at the conference. I was told today the plan to send our top Hollywood stars on May 14 to San Francisco, after the period of mourning for the late President Roosevelt had passed, would probably not go through. Up to today the State Department had not okayed the motion picture pageant believing there should be no such entertainment at this peace conference.

YES, IT'S TRUE, Nora Eddington has had a test made for a motion picture and if she photographs anything like she looks, the job will be hers. David O. Selznick has twice tested her for "Duel in the Sun." Unfortunately, at the moment Mr. Selznick has called off all production on "Duel in the Sun," and all his players have been taken off salary. But the strike won't last forever, at least, we hope it won't last much longer. Then, when it's over, you can be sure Nora Eddington, or Mrs. Errol Flynn, will make her first motion picture appearance in "Duel in the Sun."

INGRID BERGMAN was happy on Saturday when Bing Crosby and Leo McCarey presented her with a bracelet with five church bells. Bing and Leo had gone to Maurice's and asked Leo Kabat to design a bracelet for the femme star of "The Bells of St. Mary's." The bells bear five names Bing's, Leo McCarey's and the writers, Bonnie, Bobby and Bill, with Ingrid's name on the bracelet proper. That's how she stands with them. WHEN CHARLES JR. and Sidney Chaplin were in town they spent more time with Dolyo Goutman, a Hollywood artist, than with anyone else. On one occasion when Charlie, Jr., decided to leave home and his family was searching frantically for him, he was with Goutman all the time. Today their artist pal had two letters, one from Charlie, Jr., and one from Sidney, but each said practically the same thing. Said the letter from the older Chaplin boy: "I hear Sidney is in Patton's Third Army. So am I. Where is he?" Sidney wrote: "They tell me my Brother Charlie is in Patton's Third Army. So am I. Where is he?"

I COULDN'T be more grateful to Greer Garson for making it possible for me to keep a birthday engagement on April 29, an engagement that means a great deal to me, and has for years. Without hesitating she agreed to take over my radio program so I could make the trip. Greer tells me she has received an album from Lionel Barrymore which she prizes highly, for it contains recordings of all his compositions played by symphony orchestras. What Greer particularly prizes is his "In Memoriam," which Lionel wrote in memory of his brother, John Barrymore, a beautiful and inspired piece of music.

LILI DAMITA has written friends she will be here in a few weeks. She is bringing her 4-year-old son, Sean Flynn; although no one was supposed to know it was Jules Stein's birthday, the secret leaked out at the party Mrs. Stein gave for him. Bette Davis' gift was a beautiful Georgian inkwell. Frances Goldwyn was wearing the gold and pearl necklace Sam gave her on their 20th wedding anniversary, and she's very proud of it. Sam was in good form and told very interesting stories about his visit to the European hospitals; the former Ruth Hollingsworth Foran, who is now married to Vincente Pardou South American millionaire, looks as stunning as ever. She's had five children and says she hopes to have five more. Three of them are Pardou's and the other two Dick Foran's; Flower Perry Coogan has set May 10 for her marriage to Hal Baker Cue. NEW YORK, April 30—It's silly, I'm sure, but I can't help dropping a nostalgic tear or two over the passing of that pre-war—oh, that very pre-war! — phenomenon, the stunt-puller.

Dorothy Kilgallen

I am thinking of those pleasant screwballs who used to garner yards of newspaper type and acres of picture page space by perching atop flagpoles or roller-skating from New York to 'Frisco blindfolded, or skiing down Mt. Everest on barrel staves.

I distinctly remember (I was a child, of course, a mere child) a dewey-eyed couple who said "I do" to a preacher inside a diving bell on the bottom of the ocean, and it seems to me there was a fellow who drove a team of Alaskan huskies all the way to New York, just for laughs.

There were the dance marathons, of course—those pathetic endurance contests in which girls and boys with numbers on their backs alternately dragged each other around an arena while tinny music played; in fact, "endurance" contests of all kinds seemed popular in that far-away era.

The human system was constantly being subjected to tests of continuance—how many pies could a boy eat, how many wheatcakes could he down, how many goldfish could he swallow? How many miles could a man walk? How long could Mahatma Gandhi go without eating? How long could you live inside a cake of ice?

The endurance nowadays is of another kind, and widespread, and it garners newspaper space but no one laughs at it.

I am a little lonesome for the peaceful days of the whacky story! I'm sure there must still be plenty of screwballs in existence, but their tinsel laughter has been muffled by the roll of drums. I suppose they won't come back into their own and into the limelight until the war is finished and the world is sane enough to enjoy a little harmless insanity.

AS THE DAUGHTER of a newspaperman, who was a bright light in his profession before I knew a bulletin from a three-head I know the disadvantages, as well as the lovely advantages of following in somebody's footsteps.

The advantages are obvious. Those who like your celebrated parent are nice to you and wish you well. People are polite who might otherwise have given you the dust-off. When you walk into a strange room strangers walk up and reminisce about your pop.

But the disadvantages are many. You are compared—not always favorably—to Pop. You overhear the phrases "can't hold a candle" and "couldn't carry the Old Man's typewriter" far too often for your morale. Or, those who think you're doing all right suspect that Dad is home ghosting your stuff. Or, if you get a break and rate a pat on the back, somebody is sure to say: "Well, why not? After all, look who her father is!"

★ ★ ★

SO I DOFF my bonnet to Harriet Parsons, the young motion picture producer, because I think she must have gone through the same routine on the maternal side of the family, only in a bigger way. The phrase "Louella Parson's daughter, you know," must have dogged her for years before her own talents were fully recognized.

But I have just seen a preview of "The Enchanted Cottage," which Harriet produced, and I think that possibly from now on her famous columnist mother will hear people say: "She's the mother of Harriet Parsons, the producer, you know," when she goes out to tea.

For Harriet has turned in a real job on "The Enchanted Cottage." It is a lovely picture, tender and hopeful and particularly timely, and it will identify the Parsons name with high-grade cinema producing as well as scoops.

WASHINGTON, April 30—Sen. Happy Chandler of Kentucky bounced into the Senate the other day for the first time since becoming baseball commissioner and took a terrific ribbing from his colleagues.

Senator Hatch

Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming clasped Happy warmly by the hand but when the baseball czar started to beam like a tickled porpoise, O'Mahoney said:

"I just wanted to know what a $50,000 paw felt like!"

★ ★ ★

THE 50 GRAND handshake gag caught on. Everybody babbled something about the golden touch, including our Mrs. Janet Green, who offered Happy a ladylike talon and cooed:

"Mitt me, Midas!"

In the midst of the kidding, Sen. Carl A. Hatch of New Mexico suddenly went grave.

"All fooling aside," he said, "this is a serious commentary on government. A man gets only $10,000 to be a Senator but $50,000 to govern baseball.

"Do not think I am jealous, although I must admit I think highly of $50,000, and I am glad Happy is getting up in the world. But it is saddening to realize that going from the highest lawmaking body in the land to a baseball job is considered a great promotion."

★ ★ ★

SEN. WARREN G. MAGNUSON of Washington said—with some feeling—he agreed with Sen. Hatch. Then he went around shaking hands with all present. When the operation was completed, he exclaimed:

"Yes—there's no question about it! That $50,000 paw of Happy's shakes a lot better than any of the $10,000 Senatorial ones."

Sen. Hatch said he wished to make the experiment, too. After shaking all hands he concurred in the Magnuson findings

HAPPY CHANDLER regaled us with some inside stuff. When his appointment came through, the first and only reaction of his 15-year-old son, Ben, was:

"Hurrah! Now we can go to the ball games for free!"

The other son, Dan, 11, danced around, madly yelling:

"Me too! Let me in for nothing, too—please, Pop!"

★ ★ ★

SEN. DENNIS CHAVEZ of New Mexico asked how Mrs. Chandler had taken the big news:

"You know Momma!" chuckled Happy. "Her weakness is hats. She's the hat-lovingest woman I ever did see. So when she heard about the $50,000 she shouted:

"'Hallelujah! Now I can get a new hat!'"

★ ★ ★

SEN. BRIEN McMAHON of Connecticut asked Happy if he meant to extend professional courtesies to Senators.

"I intend to be kind to Senators wherever found," promised Happy. "I hereby pledge that my first official act will be to have a special box for Senators in every ball park in the country."

"Very sweet of you," murmured Senator Hatch, "considering we all get free passes."

★ ★ ★

As if thinking aloud, Senator O'Mahoney said:

"You know something—Hap is going to be better off all around. In addition to getting five times as much dough, he is going to lead a healthier life. Then tell me the air in a ball park is fresher than in the Senate—although there may not be so much."

★ ★ ★

MRS. GREEN, who makes a career of talking out of turn, told Happy he ought to do something nice for the principals in the Black Sox scandal. She mentioned Shoeless Joe Jackson, Eddie Cicotte, Buck Weaver, Swede Risberg, Chick Gandil, Happy Felsh and Abe Attell. The latter was the gambler accused of bribing the aforementioned Chicago White Sox players to throw the 1919 World Series with the Cincinnati Reds.

To prevent a repetition of this scandal the baseball moguls agreed to the creation of a high commissioner with absolute autocratic powers—and the late Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, whom Happy Chandler now succeeds, was installed.

"You really ought to send those Black Sozers some little token of your appreciation," niftied Mrs. G. "But for them there wouldn't be any baseball commissioner!"

★ ★ ★

COL. JOHN GOTTLIEB, of the General Staff reported a dizzy bit of dialogue between Happy and Maury Maverick, chairman of the Smaller War Plants Corporation. Col. Gottlieb said Maverick had waddled up to Chandler, but instead of congratulating him upon his new job, had demanded:

"How many grandchildren you got?"

"Only one," replied the astounded Happy. "Why?"

"Because, from the amount of talking you do about that one, anyone would think you had fifty!"

Boston After Dark

MONDAY MUSINGS: Saturday night's "peace scare" inspired a new topical subject of wagering among certain of our citizens who seem constantly alert for "action" . . . Once burned by a similar "official" rumor four or five Saturdays ago, the lads were not so sure this time about wagering their money on the authenticity of the report . . . Instead, they were betting that the news would be held up until after midnight—to prevent wear and tear on property, and wild celebrating . . . The first phony peace rumor found them betting as high as 4 to 1 that it was authentic.

"CAROUSEL", the Hammerstein-Rodgers operetta, whose scenery includes a beautiful merry-go-round, is responsible for an unexpected paint-up campaign on the part of New England merry-go-round operators, it develops . . . Joe Miron, the talented artist-bartender who is a personality at Provincetown's artist colony, has turned the trend to his commercial advantage . . . Joe has just finished a 16-panel, and 14-shield job on one of Revere's most famous carousels, or merry-go-rounds . . . And the mural for the merry-go-round, he rates among his best work . . . Joe painted everything but the horses.

★ ★ ★

THE JOB came to him because the owner of the Revere carousel saw the show of that name, and dropped into Shangri-la, a few steps from the Colonial (where the show was playing).

★ ★ ★

THE OWNER had a few beers at the Shangri-la bar, and as it happened, Artist Miron was enjoying a busman's holiday from his regular winter job of mixing drinks at Dinty Moore's . . . He was helping a hard-pressed fellow-member of Local 34 when the Revere merry-go-round operator began to talk about his need of an artist.

★ ★ ★

THIS WAS up Joe's alley, notwithstanding that the alley, for the time, was the one behind the stick at Shangri-la . . . "I'm the man you want, mister," the enterprising artist-mixologist informed the customer . . . And he took time off to get his catalogue of paintings . . . The deal was signed right there . . . Joe made a commission large enough to give him time off in what remains of April, and all of May, and today he takes off for the Maine coast in his 30-foot auxiliary sloop . . . But the vacation will be work and play. Other merry-go-round operators had heard of the job being done at Revere Beach, and Artist Miron has three commissions — with more pending—to keep him busy when his sturdy little vessel is running before the wind . . . Joe will do the originals only from now on . . . Journeymen painters will do the actual daubing of the paint, from the Miron sketches.

Her husband was off duty and in deep sleep after a late watch the night before . . . His bride's news was implemented in a few minutes when their home was peppered with machine gun bullets . . . Lt. Col. Toner ran to Hickam Field and became one of the few pilots to get his ship in the air . . . A graduate of Holy Cross in '39, Lt. Col. Toner wears most of the decorations at the country's disposal.

Catholics Ask Justice for Poles

by DAVID SENTNER

WASHINGTON, April 30—The tragic threat to world peace caused by the impending Soviet dismemberment of Poland keynoted addresses delivered in a weekend program here under auspices of the Washington Circle of Fax Romana, Catholic World Secretariat of National University Federations.

"Poland is facing total destruction on the eve of Allied victory to which it contributed," asserted Prof. Oskar Helecki, of the Universities of Fordham, Vassar Cracow and Warsaw.

Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S.J., former editor of "America," Jesuit weekly, said, "Europe, Asia, the United States and other nations will never have peace unless Poland has peace and security."

Rev. John Courtney Murray S.J., editor of "Theological Studies," declared the war which started over the invasion of Poland should not end with injustice to Poland.

Those attending the lecture and the mass, celebrated in the national shrine at the Catholic university by Rev. A. A. Skoniecki, of Turner's Falls, Mass., included the ambassador of Poland, Jan Ciechanowski, and representatives of the Polish armed forces.

British Minister's Son Arrested as Traitor

LONDON, April 30 (INS)—John Amery, son of a British cabinet minister and listed as a traitor to Britain, was reported under arrest in Milan, presumably by Partisan or American troops. He is the son of Leopold Amery, British secretary of state for India.

The younger Amery had engaged in broadcasting short-wave Axis propaganda over the German and Italian overseas transmitters.

Car Thief's Trick Injures Officer

Revere Patrolman Timothy Cronin, 35, is in Revere General Hospital with a deep laceration of the face, suffered when he was hurled from the running board of a stolen auto as it speeded away while he was questioning the driver.

Cronin, with Patrolman Maynard Rogers, was in the patrol wagon in Beach st., Revere, when they sighted the stolen car. After a two-mile pursuit, the officers swung the wagon in front of the car, forcing it to the curb.

Rogers moved the wagon ahead a short distance and Cronin stepped on the running board of the fugitive car.

April Sets New Warmth Record

People with short memories may not believe it but April, 1945, has been the warmest on record, and almost the driest.

G. Harold Noyes, weather bureau meteorologist, gave out that information today while Bostonians were "cussing" the drippy, drizzly weather of the past few days and calling April, 1945, the "worst on record."

Backing up his claim with statistics, Noyes said the mean temperature for this month was 52.6, compared with the previous record of 51.8, established in 1921.

For the first 21 days, with only one exception, April gave Bostonians daily temperatures of more than 10 degrees above normal, Noyes said. That was the period which saw the mercury hit into the 80's for three consecutive days to crack the previous records of April 12, 13 and 14.

The change of pace came on April 22, Noyes said, and since then the temperatures have been below normal.

Precipitation was 1.84 inches, against the normal rainfall of 3.34.

Things to be thankful for: The normal snowfall for April is 2.1 inches. April, 1945, brought not even a trace.

Sailor Loses Roll

Anybody find $125?

The interested party is Seaman John I. Mattison, USN, of Waterloo, N. Y., stationed at Quonset, R. I.

He told police today that last night, here on a 30-day leave, he had the money in his pocket in a downtown restaurant. And then, suddenly he didn't have it. And it was going to be a very tame leave indeed, he explained, if someone didn't return the greenbacks.

He left for his home in Waterloo hoping hard.

That life may go on...

IT IS SPRING in Italy. From two mountaintops Allied and Nazi artillery are dueling.

Far down in the valley, a plowman and his patient oxen plod imperturbably under the shells passing overhead, turning the brown earth in a furrow. He is old—long since arrived at the age of honorable retirement when a man should sit in the sun with his pipe and glass of wine. But his sons and grandsons are gone from the village, swallowed up by the war.

The season has come when the earth must be opened up for planting—for the begetting of another generation of crops. In war or peace, this cannot wait. Men must eat to live, and it is God's will that life should go on.

It was the same in Normandy. While armor clanked along the highways and infantrymen with Tommy guns flushed Nazi snipers from the hedgerows, the Norman farmers, calm and stubborn as the soil itself, tended their fields and performed the ancient ritual of farm chores.

Whether he practices the simple agriculture of the European countryman or the highly mechanized methods of modern American farming, the farmer symbolizes the continuity of life in war or peace.

International Harvester, known wherever soil is tilled, serves the farmer in war or peace.

Beauty

Facial Bloom Restorer

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

TODAY WE modern gals can have a creamy emulsion that discourages fine lines and softens the complexion to a youthful bloom and downy smoothness . . . which back a couple of centuries ago was the exclusive beauty treatment of a famous and beautiful empress. The original formula has been retained . . . and the results should be as thrilling . . . and as stunning as this new M. Louis hairdo of the pictured model.

MODERN BEAUTY is just an old, old story . . . and a peep into the past will show that Miss Modern American is only rediscovering the beauty touches of the long ago. Why, a "crescent moon eyebrow" is mentioned in the Book of Songs, dated 500 B.C.

Those who think that the American women live in a cosmetic age of creams, lotions and make-up artifices would do well to look into the beauty secrets of her ancient sisters . . . as we recently did in a fascinating survey conducted by the Travelers Cheque Bureau of the American Express.

Four centuries before Cleopatra's time . . . we learned . . . ancient Islamic and Egyptian women used preparations for the glamor and grandeur of their face, nails and hands. They also had complexion lotions made from human milk as did their ancient sisters in China.

Well, if milk was good for beauty back in those dim, obscure days . . . modern compositions of milky mixtures perfected through the years . . . should be good enough for us. And, it is for me . . . especially a royal compound created in 1733 for a famous and beautiful empress. Her original formula is retained in this lotion. It is an imperial preparation which kept her face as soft and lovely as down . . . and it did the same for me.

SUPERB LIQUEFIED CREAM

It is not a foundation . . . it is not a cleanser . . . it is a superb liquefied cream which looks like heavy cream . . . and is as palatable to the complexion as cream is to peaches. It is a soothing agent for the complexion . . . and right now with unpredictable New England weather buffeting the complexion about . . . the face could use something like this daily.

It kept the empress' face from developing lines . . . and we feel that if it is used daily it should have the same affinity for the modern day complexion. If your skin looks and feels devitalized . . . this imperial cream with its emollient properties should help restore a smooth, more youthful bloom to your face. Massaged into the skin . . . your complexion will completely absorb it . . . and your make-up will look all the better for this de luxe creamy base.

For the name of this facial bloom restorer, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Fashion

LATTICE WORK frills . . . a flared peplum of cotton and angel wing sleeves highlight this Joan Norton Irwin original. Of fine corded cotton . . . it has a little girl look that complements both college girl and careerist. Peppermint striped cottons are young charmers . . . especially adapted to the junior figure.—R. M.

Fears He's Too Jealous

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: My boy friend and I have been keeping company for two years and are very devoted to one another. He has no bad habits, has a good reputation and is very devoted to me, but he is a very jealous young man. We had intended to get married, but the draft came and took him and he has been in the service over a year. And now we've put off marriage until after the war.

I'm so much in love with him that I don't care to go out with other boys, and am willing to wait until he returns. Do you think I am doing right to think of marrying him? We have always argued a great deal, but still can't do without each other. Do you think I would be happy married to a jealous man?

V. L. C.

Jealousy is a form of fear. Very young people are more apt to be worried about losing a loved one's affection to another, than older persons. Experience develops confidence. As we grow older, we're apt to think better of ourselves and jealousy gnaws less.

Life with a morbidly jealous person is not an easy thing and does not make a harmonious marriage. You tell me your likes and dislikes are the same. Having congenial tastes is a good foundation for happiness. Also you say he has no bad habits and is devoted to you. Adding it all up, if he can overcome his jealousy, he sounds like a good risk to me.

How to Make Friends

You can't expect people to like you unless you make them feel comfortable and at ease with you. Doing and saying friendly things is your first move. Consider their feelings, and their wishes. Listen with attention and grace to what they have to say. Keep everlastingly at the job of being tactful. When they do things well, give them credit, and the nice compliment they deserve. And spend your thank-you's like a prodigal! - MRS. BEECKMAN.

Cool Dress for Summer

By BETTINA BEDWELL

AS MANY a girl has found out to her sorrow, the sleeves of a hot-weather street dress are the weakest point, and they can ruin the looks as well as the comfort of the girl inside the dress. And yet there are lots of us who prefer to wear a dress with sleeves in even in torrid summer.

Maurice Rentner has found a way by turning to the Chinese, who know a thing or two about warm weather clothes. He makes a wide kimona sleeve, which he calls the Mei Ling sleeve, and sets it into warm weather street dresses.

Here is both comfort and beauty, for the strategic under-arm section is cool and loose, and very attractive, too. The dress is made of semi-sheer black crepe and lightened with saddle-stitched seams, white buttons up the neck and a white belt.

Simple Salads

By MARTHA LEE

NOW'S THE TIME to cast off the sophistication of winter dress-up—to replace silks and woolens with more practical cottons, to foil stocking problems by going bare-legged, and so on. Simplicity is the keynote.

Heavy draperies make way for gay chintzes, rugs are rolled up to reveal highly-polished floors, and windows and doors thrown open to let in the balmy fresh air of sunny Maytime days.

In the kitchen, too, the trend is toward lighter, simpler dishes. Dehydrated soup mixes, ready-mix desserts, frozen vegetables and salads, salads and more salads. Market stalls display all the salad ingredients—and they look good enough to eat "as is." But tossed together in combination with one another, and a few other taste-provokers, they'll thrill the most critical gourmet.

SALAD BOWL

1 small head romaine lettuce
3 cups boiled potatoes, diced
¾ cup thinly sliced celery
2 tbsp. grated onion
4 slices bacon, diced and cooked brown and crisp
½ tsp. salt
Mayonnaise
2 tomatoes, cut in wedges
1 deviled eggs
6 to 8 green pepper rings

Line the bowl with lettuce leaves. Mix together the potatoes, celery, grated onion, bacon and salt. Moisten with mayonnaise. Garnish with tomato wedges, deviled eggs and green pepper rings. Serve with chiffonade dressing. Makes about 6 servings.

Salted peanuts are a wonderful addition to almost any salad -- a trick many salad makers have overlooked. Besides being so downright good, they supply stores of protein. Figure it out yourself — simple arithmetic— the vitamins and minerals of vegetables, plus the protein of peanuts equal a delectable health dish, the aim of every meal planner.

STUFFED EGG SALAD

4 hard-cooked eggs
2 tbsp. mayonnaise
3 tbsp. salted peanuts, chopped
1 tsp. cream or top milk
1 tbsp. minced onion
1 tbsp. chopped parsley Lettuce
2 tomatoes French dressing

Hard cook eggs and cool. Remove shells and cut in half lengthwise. Remove yolks. Add the mayonnaise, cream, onion, peanuts and parsley. Mix well. Fill egg whites. Arrange on salad plate with thick slices of tomato on lettuce. Serve with French dressing.

FRENCH DRESSING

1-3 cup vinegar or lemon juice
1 cup salad or olive oil
½ tsp. pepper 1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. paprika
1 tsp. sugar, if desired
Few grains cayenne

Combine all ingredients; shake or beat until thoroughly combined; chill. Shake again each time before using.

Note: Garlic vinegar gives a subtle flavor to dressing. This can be purchased or prepared by allowing a clove or garlic to stand for several days in vinegar.

CHIFFONADE DRESSING

Add 1 chopped hard-cooked egg, ½ tsp. grated onion, 2½ tbsp. minced green pepper, and 1½ tbsp. minced parsley to French dressing.

COTTAGE CHEESE SALAD

2 cups cottage cheese
Salt and pepper
Light cream
6 leaves head lettuce
¾ cup French dressing

Season cottage cheese to taste with salt and pepper; add cream until of desired consistency. Two tablespoonsful chopped onion may be added, if desired. Serve on lettuce with French dressing. Makes 6 servings.

Duce

lage of Guilano de Mezzergere, near Como.

It was speedy justice. It was followed by a ghastly spectacle. The bloody bodies of Mussolini, his Claretta and six of the leading Fascists were hung—heads down—in a public square before they were tossed to the populace as the Roman emperors threw humans to lions.

Rita Hume, International News Service correspondent, wrote:

"Some of the bodies were stripped to the waist. The skirts of Mussolini's mistress were trussed between her thighs. There were no signs of torture, only shooting. The Patriots strung up the eighth body as we watched. The rope slipped, and as it crashed to the pavement I heard the head split open like an over-ripe watermelon. I couldn't look."

The scaffold, according to George Palmer of the Associated Press, was "the rusty steel framework of a half-completed gasoline station in the heart of Milan."

Armed Partisans attempted the gesture of keeping the angry Milanese back from the bodies on the pavement later but these were the deaths that had long been sought, and now there was a mob determination to trample upon the bodies.

Mussolini's face was kicked time and again. Women visited indignities upon the body of Claretta Petacci. They had feared her, for to offend her was to offend Il Duce. Now, she and all she had stood for were being stamped out—and stamped upon—in the city where Mussolini had conjured his tyrannical Fascist regime.

Il Duce and his gang were lying on the exact spot where Fascists killed 15 innocent Milanese a few months ago as a reprisal for the shooting of several Germans. It was the same spot where, only three days ago, Fascist snipers fired into a crowd which had assembled to do honor to the 15 slain. The Milanese today exulted that this should be a stage for retribution.

Mussolini's battered body was covered by a muddied and torn uniform of the Fascist militia—and the buttons were considered desirable souvenirs. The battle jacket was gray-green, the gray riding trousers were widely flared, with red and black stripes.

At first, the "labaro," a golden staff topped by the Roman eagle, had been ironically thrust in his hand. This had been the symbol of Fascist power. The Milanese soon tired of their irony, however, and kicked it aside.

They let Mussolini's head remain on his Claretta's body for a while. She had been shot in the breast, at close range. The jacket of her brown suit was half hanging from one shoulder.

Only last Wednesday, the Associated Press reported, Mussolini attempted to arrange with Partisan chieftains for peace terms for himself and his Fascist supporters. It quoted the new prefect of Milan, Ricardo Lombardi, as saying the overtures were made by Il Duce and Marshal Rodolfe, Graziani, chief of Fascist armed forces.

Lombardi said the two met with Cardinal Ildefonso Schuster, archbishop of Milan, and a delegation from the Committee of National Liberation. The Partisans demanded unconditional surrender. Lombardi related:

"Graziani interrupted to remind Il Duce the honors of their arms demanded they not sign a peace treaty without consulting the Germans."

Lombardi, who sat in on the conference, said he told Mussolini the Partisans had already sounded out the Germans. Mussolini declared the Germans had betrayed him and asked for one hour to contact the German high command.

It was agreed, but Mussolini never returned. He speeded out of Milan. The Partisans arose and after a night of fighting the city was in the hands of the Committee of National Liberation.

When Mussolini and his party were captured, he wore a German officer's coat. He was apparently headed for Switzerland in frantic hope of finding asylum. The Swiss many years ago, when he was a mere agitator in their midst, had bundled him out of the country and told him to stay out. But that was long ago. And there was nowhere else in Europe where a vestige of safety awaited him.

The Associated Press quoted the commander of the Partisans who executed the party as saying:

"Mussolini was in a cottage on a hill outside the village of Dongo with his mistress. When he saw the Italian officers coming toward him he embraced his mistress. But he was deeply shaken when he was told he was to be tried.

"The committee with the 52nd Garibaldi Brigade and an officer from the Milan Partisan command then examined the men with Mussolini and found them all guilty, so my men arranged the executions.

"Mussolini and Claretta Petacci were shot together at the cottage. He was not blindfolded, but as the soldiers were about to fire, he cried, 'No, No.' Those were his last words."

Before that, Mussolini had faced the tribunal which condemned him to death and cried dramatically, "Let me live, I will give you an empire!"

It is not recorded whether any of the stern-faced Partisans asked him "What empire?"

In all the world accessible to communication with the United States, only two voices were raised in protest against the summary executions. The Vatican newspaper, Osservatore Romano, said:

"Justice, even if severe, must not take the shape of impetuous violence and macabre exasperation. It is precisely this characteristic that can determine Christian and human consideration of an entire nation."

In Lisbon, the Portuguese newspaper, "Voz," said:

"They have killed a great European and a great Latin. We bow with respect to his memory."

It compared Mussolini's execution with "the horrors which Genghis Kahn scattered in his path."

Mussolini had begged for mercy. There was none for him.

"Why is there no one here to defend me?" he bewailed.

Millions of Italians could have given him an answer.

Grenfell Pops Fete

By BETTY ALDEN

STEALING a page from schools and colleges which hold reunions in the spring (barring ODT regulations), the 1914 Boston Sewing Circle is having a gay reunion at the Junior League on May 9. Members are the girls who made their debut in '14. Hostesses at the luncheon will be Mrs. Richard C. Curtis, Mrs. Leon F. Foss, Mrs. Joseph R. Hamlen and Mrs. Harold G. Stuart.

* * *

TOMORROW'S eagerly anticipated opening night of the Pops sponsored by the N. E. Grenfell Ass'n, will celebrate not only the 50th birthday of the Pops but also the sixth decade of the famous Grenfell Mission which maintains hospitals on the coasts of Labrador and Newfoundland. The costumes and customs of these 60 years will be illustrated in many interesting photographs exhibited in the foyer of Symphony Hall.

Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow

Preceding the opening concert, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Mason will give a small dinner party for Hon. (British Consul) and Mrs. Bernard Ponsonby Sullivan, Mrs. John Mason Little and Mrs. William M. E. Whitlock. Dr. E. Parker Hayden, president of N. E. Grenfell, and Mrs. Hayden will have as guests Rev. Otis Jackson and Dr. Charles Curtis who succeeded Sir Wilfred Grenfell as superintendent of the Grenfell Mission.

* * *

WELLESLEY ALUMNAE will hear their Alma Mater song performed for the first time by a full orchestra at Wellesley Night at the Pops, May 17, since the song has been especially orchestrated for the occasion by Peter Bodge. Soloists will be undergraduates Lucille Wetherbee and Margaret Torbert playing a Bach violin concerto.

Mrs. Robert Chapman Foster of Newton is chairman of this benefit for the Wellesley Students' Aid Society. Patrons include Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Allen, President and Mrs. Kenneth Sills of Bowdoin College, Miss Grace Crocker, Miss Ruby Willis, Mrs. Frederick H. Curtiss, Capt. Mildred McAfee, president of Wellesley and commanding officer of the WAVES, Mrs. Henry Knox Sherrill, Mrs. Theodore Haffenreffer, and Mrs. Louis Chick. Also Mrs. J. Philip Wernette, Mrs. Galen Stone, Mrs. Edward Ballantine, and Mrs. John F. Correa, Jr., of Wellesley Hills head of the flower committee who is rounding up a bevy of attractive college girls to usher and sell corsages.

* * *

COUNT HAUGWITZ-REVENTLOW and his beautiful wife, who are making their home in Brookline while the former's son, Lanz, attends private school here, are well-known as ardent outdoor sports fans. But judging by the zest with which they glided to three-four time at the latest of the popular Waltz Evenings, waltzing is also one of their favorite pastimes. They were guests of the Basil Gavins of Millis and the countess was exceedingly pretty in filmy black with white flowers appliqued on its full graceful skirt.

Waltzing to his heart's content was Cadet Louis Harding, Jr., with pretty Patty Hobbs. Others were Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Comstock, the latter lovely in a dainty black and white net; Mrs. Lloyd Thomas setting off her golden hair with a full-skirted black gown and fluffy white bodice; Joan Titcomb with her Navy fiance; Mrs. Frederick Kingsbury, her daughter Jean MacHale, and peppy Mrs. Edward Long (Debbie Law) having a whirl in a gray and cerise gown. Others were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brooks, Lt. Edward Mahony recently back from Europe, Rosamond Higgins, Mary Francis Ludwig, Hosea Harris and the Robert C. Terrys.

My Day

By Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK, Sunday—Representative Mary Norton of New Jersey is making a magnificent fight for the passage of the Fair Employment Practices Bill. This bill would give us a permanent group in the government whose function it would be to see that, as far as employment goes throughout this country, there is complete equality of opportunity and treatment for all.

Many people have come to think of this bill as being of value only to certain minority groups.

I think it is important for the public in general to understand clearly that the bill, while it may be of value to these groups, is equally vital to each and every one of us who are citizens of the United States.

If we do not see that equal opportunity, equal justice and equal treatment are meted out to every citizen, the very basis on which this country can hope to survive with liberty and justice for all will be wiped away.

* * *

ARE WE LEARNING NOTHING from the horrible pictures of the concentration camps which have been appearing in our papers day after day? Are our memories so short that we do not recall how in Germany this unparalleled barbarism started by discrimination directed against the Jewish people?

* * *

LOOKING AT the war - torn world of today, we cannot say that our civilization has been perfect. We can only say that we have created greater material comfort for human beings and that we are struggling to find a way of living together peacefully and co-operatively in the future.

That is a great step forward, and we are taking it internationally; but we must also take it within our own borders.

We cannot complain that the Germans starved and maltreated our boys if we at home do not take every step—both through our government and as individuals—to see not only that fairness exists in all employment practices, but that throughout our nation all people are equal citizens.

Where the theory of a master race is accepted, there is danger to all progress in civilization.

Plants Must Be Hardened

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head, Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School, and Director of the Record-American-Sunday-Advertiser Demonstration Garden on Boston Common.

Many gardeners this week will be setting out early plants that were grown in the house or hotbed, but one thing they must remember is that the plants must be well hardened. If they are set in the field when tender they may be damaged by the wind, sun or frost.

The term hardening plants means getting them tough enough to stand outside conditions. If you have grown your own, the following method of hardening can be followed:

1—Reduce amount of water that you give to plants.

2—Gradually lower the temperature.

3—Remove glass from frames and expose to air and sunlight. If plants are grown in the house it may be well to carry the boxes out in the open.

Hardy crops such as lettuce, cabbage, broccoli and cauliflower can be hardened so that they will stand considerable frost. Tomatoes, eggplant and peppers are frost tender and should not be set out until all danger of frost is over. It is not considered good practice to harden tomato plants too much.

There has been increasing interest in growing sweet potatoes in this area. This is a warm weather crop and the plants should not be set out until all danger of frost is over. Unless your soil is light or sandy I would not suggest that you grow them.

Last year's potatoes are now sprouting badly. This causes severe shrinkage in storage. If you have any potatoes left over and want to hold them I would suggest that you rub off the sprouts and sort them over. Keep in a cool, dark place.

COLONIAL — "MEMPHIS BOUND," the season's only all-Negro musical comedy starring Bill "Bojangles" Robinson and prominently featuring Avon Long, Sheila Guys, Thelma Carpenter, Ida James, the Delta Rhythm Boys, Georgette Harvey, Ada Brown, Frank Wilson and many others, is being presented by John Wildberg as a Vinton Freedley production. The book is by Albert Barker and Sally Benson; score by Don Walker and Clay Warnick. Staged by George Jemkins.

Continuing

PLYMOUTH — "KISS AND TELL," George Abbott's production of F. Hugh Herbert's comedy success, is enjoying a most successful return engagement with Vera Tatum, Walter Gilbert and June Dayton. Third week.

SHUBERT — "GOOD NIGHT, LADIES," Cyrus Wood's adaptation of the old Avery Hopwood farce, "Ladies' Night," swings into its fifth, thriving week tonight. Stars are Skeets Gallagher, Sunnie O'Dea and Boston's own Gloria Humphries.

May 7

OPERA HOUSE—"THE STUDENT PRINCE," the Dorothy Donnelly-Sigmund Romberg operetta featuring Alexander Gray, Laurel Hurley and Detmar Poppen.

May 8

WILBUR — "MERELY COINCIDENTAL," Charles Raddock's satire-comedy on "bestsellerdom," is being presented by Leslye Karen for a limited, two-week engagement with Choo Choo Johnson, Will Geer, Frank Lovejoy, Lili Valenty, Solveig Dahl and James MacColl. Staged by Don Appell; sets by Perry Watkins.

May 21

WILBUR — SOLDIER'S WIFE." Rose Franken's comedy hit starring Martha Scott and Myron McCormick, will open a three-week run here as the sixth play of the Theater Guild-American Theater Society subscription series. The comedy comes here with the original cast and production.

May 23

N. E. MUTUAL HALL—"OUR TOWN," the Thornton Wilder prize-winning play, will close the Tributary Theater's season.

'The Student Prince' Tickets Now on Sale

Tickets are now on sale at the Wilbur and Boston Opera House box offices for the two-week engagement of "The Student Prince," the Shuberts' production of Sigmund Romberg's operatic perennial, opening at the Opera House a week from tonight.

"TREE" HIT AT EXETER

"A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," film translation of Betty Smith's widely read novel, is now showing on the Exeter screen. Dorothy McGuire, Joan Blondell, Peggy Ann Garner and James Dunn head the cast. "Memo from Britain," a March of Time release, and several shorts complete bill.

Gus Mell May Run 1945 Earnings Over $100,000

By JACK CONWAY

GUS MELL, Montreal's sensational 19-year-old ring star, will come bounding back to Boston tomorrow to complete training for his ten-round bout with Sal Bartolo, NBA featherweight champion, that will be offered by the Goodwin A. C. at the Garden on Friday night.

The Disabled Veterans Fund of the American-Record-Sunday Advertiser will receive 10 per cent of gross receipts after deduction of Federal and State taxes.

Gus Mell

Coming to Boston last December as a $150 preliminary fighter, Mell has skyrocketed to ring fame. He received $4000 as his purse for his recent victory over Bartolo in a stirring battle.

A dynamic punch, reckless aggressiveness, courage and natural boxing instinct have been the assets that have enabled Mell to move to the front so rapidly. If the baby-faced Canadian can win from Bartolo Friday night, he is likely to run his 1945 ring earnings well past the $100,000 mark.

It is story book successes like the one scored by Mell that cause thousands of youngsters to enter amateur boxing tournaments each year. Youthful boxers know that if they have ability they can score success quicker than in any other sport.

In the postwar period, boxing will draw even greater gates than it did in the Golden Twenties when $1,000,000 was not an uncommon figure to be reached at a big bout. A recent survey taken by sports writers showed that boxing is the top sport with servicemen. This enthusiasm for boxing is certain to be carried into the postwar period.

Bartolo Seeks Revenge

SAL BARTOLO will be seeking revenge when the sound of the gong sends him sweeping into action against Mell at the Garden. Bartolo was a 10 to 3 choice over Mell in their recent tussle, but ended up losing the decision.

I thought the fact Bartolo entered the ring with a wound over his right eye injured his chances of winning. In order to protect the injury as much as possible, Bartolo changed his boxing stance. This slowed him down on the defense and also on the attack.

Bartolo, a member of the Merchant Marine, has been training in New York. He says he is in fine physical condition and that he will be at his best when he enters the ring Friday night. Sal's East Boston followers will be out in force, and they are likely to send him into the ring a slight favorite in the betting despite his recent upset at the hands of Mell.

Bartolo, a former All-America champion, proved he could do as well in professional boxing as he could when battling as an amateur. He gained international ring standing when he won the NBA featherweight crown.

Nova Opposes Eagle

IT WILL BE a busy week for Boston and New England boxing fans as Eddie Mack has Lou Nova, Californian heavyweight, battling Charley Eagle of Waterbury, New England heavyweight champion, in a 10-round bout for the Callahan A. C. at Mechanics Building on Thursday night. Nova recently fought a stirring bout with Joe Baksi in the New York Garden, dropping a close decision. It is likely that Nova and Baksi will collide in an outdoor show during the coming summer, and the gate receipts will run close to $150,000.

Nova had signed to box for the Callahan A. C. before the Baksi bout, and has agreed to keep his contract even though he will be risking much ring prestige. After contacting most of the leading heavyweights in the country, Mack succeeded in signing Eagle. Eagle won the New England title when he disposed of Nathan Mann of New Haven who had lifted the high ring honor from Al McCoy who is now in the Navy.

Heavyweight bouts have always proved popular in Boston. The fans will be anxious to get a peek at Nova who is fighting better than at any time in his career since he went under the management of Jimmy Johnston.

Eagle is expected to give Nova a real test.

Tigers' Ross Scorns Trade to Indians

DETROIT, April 30 (INS)—Don Ross, Tigers outfielder who with Lambert Meyer was traded to the Indians for Roy Cullenbine, indicated today he will not report to the Tribe.

Ross stated he plans to go to his home in Pasadena, Cal. He indicated that his objection was in going to a club he figures may wind up in the second division.

Roger Peckinpaugh, vice-president of the Indians, said that Ross' poy would stop if he doesn't report.

Ken Raffensberger Of Phils Inducted

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 30 (AP)—Kenneth D. Raffensberger, 27-year-old star Phillies pitcher, was inducted into the armed service here today.

Raffensberger, a native of York, Pa., joined the Phils in September, 1943, after pitching with Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast League. Previously, he played with the Cubs.

Ferriss New Sox Hill Ace

By HUCK FINNEGAN

The Red Sox weren't ashamed to get off the train at Back Bay station this morning. Yet 48 hours ago they dreaded the prospect of returning home, feared the bazoos they'd receive from Boston fandom. Instead, it will be cheers they'll get when they face the Senators at Fenway Park tomorrow. They've earned them.

When they took the field Saturday in Philadelphia they were still seeking their first victory—after eight defeats. Today they had three to their credit—an 8-4 win behind Cecil Saturday, a 2-to-0 shutout behind Ferris in the Sunday opener, and a 13-inning 6-3 thriller behind relief man Pinky Woods in the nighacap.

Thus, the trip that started out so badly ended brilliantly. Not because of the victories alone but because of future prospects.

The catching hole seems to be well filled by Bob Garbark, who didn't catch a game until Thursday. Baker, Daly and Woodall, catchers all, like his all-round work and particularly his judgment on pitches, too. He's a stouter sticker than Walters or Holm, though Walters opened the three-run 13th with a well-stroked double.

* * *

Garbarks and victories aside, any trip is a howling success when a club picks up a youngster like Boo Ferriss. He's positively a Frank Merriwell in Red Sox toggery. He pitches like Walter Johnson and bats like Babe Ruth—honest.

Think of this.

He had seen only three big league games when he joined the Sox in Washington last Tuesday. That was in '41, after he had pitched for Bill Barrett in Brattleboro, Vt., in the Northern League. He saw the Sox play a game in Boston, two in New York on his way home to Shaw, Miss.

He was entering his junior year at Miss. State. He was such a bearcat the Sox sent him to their Greensboro farm club (Piedmont league) in '42. He won 7, lost 7 there, won three in the playoffs. "He pitched us into the pennant, won the playoffs for us," said Ben Steiner, who played with him.

In college he played first base when he wasn't pitching. He batted over .400 and was clean-up man. When playing first base or the outfield he threw left-handed. Ask him sometime. "I can throw left as well as I can right," he admits modestly. "I always could."

He went into the Army Air Corps in the fall of '42. He landed at Randolph Field where he played ball for Bib Falk. "I owe more to Bib than I do to anybody I ever played for," he says.

In the San Antonio Servicemen's League, he outhit Enos Slaughter, ex-Cards than-whomer. He was there in '43 and '44. Discharged two months ago, he joined Louisville, came to the Sox after he pitched an exhibition game against the Reds' Bucky Walters.

He saw the Sox play Thursday, Friday and Saturday, pitched Sunday's first game before the largest crowd he ever saw in his life—23,828. Yet he had the poise of a veteran. Oh, he was nervous at the start. His first 10 pitches were balls, but Skeeter Newsome pulled him out of it with a sizzling double play, and after that the kid was very much at home.

* * *

Fast? He blew pitches past Estalella and Hayes. Poise? In the fourth with men on second and first and one out, he took Burn's drive, made a perfect throw to second to start a D-P.

Knew what he was doing every minute. In the seventh, he fielded Rosenthal's sacrifice bunt near the third base line, threw smartly to first. Had the play doped ahead of time. A moment later he took Peck's smash and trapped a runner for home.

Hit? Moaned Bobo Newsome when Ferriss got his third straight blow: "You so-and-so. You ought to be playing the outfield."

And he can pitch, boys, he can pitch. The Sox should go places behind him.

Russ Derry Hits 2d Grand Slam

Russ Derry may be only a flash in the pan but if he maintains his present pace, he is certain to set a new record for grand slam homers in one season, according to the Associated Press.

The Yankee outfielder, starting his first regular season in the majors (he played in 38 games last year) belted his second homer with the bases full as the New Yorkers split a double-header with Washington, winning the first 13-4 and losing the second 2-1 before 35,308 fans.

The record of four in a season is held jointly by Frank Schulte of the Cubs, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, Yankees, and Rudy York, Tigers. None hit his first until well into May.

In addition to his base clearing wallop, the Mill Grove, Mo., farmer hit another homer in the opener, making it the second time this season that he has hit two home runs in one day. Homer hitting is nothing new to the 27-year-old Irishman as he led the Piedmont League in 1939 with 40 homers for Norfolk, Va., and banged out 22 for Newark in 1942.

The opener marked the third win without a defeat for New York's Hank Borowy, but Atley Donald, despite a personal homer, bowed to the Nats' Roger Wolff in a second-game mound duel with each team making only four hits.

The surprising White Sox finally lost after five straight victories when they were beaten twice by St. Louis, 3-2 and 10-4.

Yank Horse Owners May Spurn Canada

By DAVE WILSON

W. E. (Wag) Collins, prominent trainer who has his stable quartered at Narragansett Park, is the authority for the statement that horsemen cannot ship their thoroughbreds via public conveyances anymore unless they first sign papers with the ODT promising they will not send their horses to a foreign country.

Collins added that all owners who shipped north from Miami this past winter had to put their names on the dotted line of these affidavits before they were allotted train space.

This move by the ODT, plus severe border regulations and the apparent unwillingness of the Canadian racing associations to give U. S.-owned horses a crack at purses, practically kills all chances of an American invasion of the Dominion.

Any American owner, lucky enough to transport his horses across the border and then secure stall space at a Canadian track, will find many races limited to Canadian-owned thoroughbreds or for horses bred in the land of the Maple Leaf.

Then, if any American can hurdle these obstacles and have one of his steeds win a race, he will be restrained from moving the purse money to the U. S. by a strict Canadian government regulation.

American racing fans and their Yankee dollars, however, will be welcomed with open arms by the Canadians. Any American citizen who can obtain permission from his draft board and furnish a birth certificate, will find it comparatively easy to reach the Canadian racing capital of Toronto, which is only 90 miles distant from the bustling U. S. city of Buffalo.

The American horse players, like the owners, will find that they cannot bring their winnings back to this country due to the Canadian law which forbids a visitor to depart from the Dominion with more money than when he entered.

In other words, our good neighbor to the north, is not averse to having citizens of the U. S. support its thoroughbred industry, but by the same token Canada apparently does not intend to let Americans share in the sports profits.

To the hundreds and possibly thousands of American racing fans, who are planning to view their favorite sport in a foreign country, the money restrictions will not prove a difficult obstacle because they can always pick up a telephone in Canada and call their favorite bookie back in the states.

Incidentally, bookmakers in this country who have been idle since the ban on racing, are all set to swing back into full action on May 19, the date for the opening of Canadian racing at Woodbine.

Dave Harrison, trainer of the Boblyn Stable, is confined to a Pawtucket, R. I. hospital as the result of injuries received when thrown from his pony the past Saturday at Narragansett Park . . . Trainer J. J. Halley, who has a large string quartered at Narragansett Park, is en route to Miami, Fla., on a business trip.

Coleman Magic Puts Tribe in 3d Place

By BILL GRIMES

The Braves depart for New York today and will not appear again at their Wigwam until one week from Wednesday. After losing their first three starts to the Giants, the Colemen did an about face and have been on the winning end of six of the last eight tilts.

HE MEANS IT—The ump always has the last word. Here Ziggy Sears, center foreground, motions one of protesting Pirates off field during row over second inning ruling by Ump Jocko Conlan, right. Ziggy's pose shows he doesn't mean maybe. Manager Frank Frisch and catcher Al Lopez of Buccs were chased during affair in Chicago. But Buccs won anyhow, 6-2 and 5-4, over Cubs.

AP Wirephoto

They open a three-day series tomorrow against the Dodgers at Ebbetts Field. Then they spend the rest of the week at the Polo Grounds playing four games in three days against the Ottmen.

Although he has been unable to field his first team in a single game this season, Bob Coleman has maneuvered his Braves into third place, with a record of six wins against five defeats.

During the past week, there were no less than five Brave infielders on the injured list. Fortunately, Whitney Wietelmann was willing to take a gamble and return to the lineup for the Phillies series. Two weeks to the day before he took over the third base assignment against the Blue Jays, Wietelmann had had the little finger on his left hand amputated. Realizing that Coleman and the Braves were desperately in need of an infielder, he volunteered to return to the lineup.

★ ★ ★

The Braves have the makings of a first division club. It's been eleven years since the Braves finished in the money. Up to date, the 1945 Braves haven't shown any signs which indicate that they have second division complexes. There's a new spirit on this club this season. They've gone down fighting in every one of their five defeats. And, moreover, they've scored 21 runs in the late innings at bat this spring. It takes a fighting ball club to accomplish that feat.

For the past three years, the Braves had good pitching but their fielding and hitting was mediocre. It was a crime the way they let the pitchers down. But it is a different story this season. The Braves have a real offensive punch and defensively they are better than any club your observer has seen. The pitching, however, isn't up to the standard set for three years. Jim Tobin, Nate Andrews and Al Javery have only broken even. Sundays haven't been Jim Tobin's days. A week ago, he got into the second game of the doubleheader in Philadelphia, just in time to be charged with the defeat. And, he was beaten again yesterday.

Javery and Andrews were both beaten on their first starts by the Giants but came back against the Blue Jays. Charlie Cozart, the southpaw up from Atlanta, and Tom Early have each chalked up a victory while Red Barrett has come up with a couple of good relief jobs, but was knocked out of the box on his two starts.

★ ★ ★

Coleman hopes that his pitching corps will get straightened away this week. Right now, it looks like Barrett wil open against the Dodgers tomorrow, Red didn't have a prayer on Saturday and the Blue Jays knocked his ears off. Until last year, Barrett hadn't lost a game to Brooklyn, but 1944 was a poor season for the redhead and he was taken over the jumps on two occasions by the Dodgers.

Charlie Cozart may start a game on this trip. Manager Coleman is anxious to see how the southpaw looks against National League hitters. Cozart was pummelled by the Giants on opening day, but in Philadelphia he retired the Blue Jays in order for two innings.

Rindge Nine Faces Acid Test This Week

By MIKE GILLOOLY

The law of averages is just bound to catch up with a team over the course of the season. It's quite possible that Rindge Tech will feel its none-too-tender touch this week in its baseball schedule unless Coach Bill McLaughlin's rummaging through the school produces a hitherto hidden pitching star.

Rindge needs a twirler and needs one in an extreme hurry if the Technicians hope to clinch a berth in the Eastern state championships.

Right now, Rindge is riding high atop the standings of the Suburban league with a trio of victories. The Cambridge club has blanked Watertown and neighboring Latin. In between, they dumped Waltham but they tipped their hand, somewhat, at Andover where they blew a 26-0 decision. And that's just where the rub comes in. That was where John "Lefty" Hansen was out. And without Hansen, there just doesn't seem to be any Rindge.

The classy southpaw has won all three games. But after he has done his work on the mound, Coach McLaughlin has nobody with anything to throw back should Rindge pop into a quick follow-up contest. Such will be situation this week when Rindge takes on defending state champion Newton Wednesday afternoon at Russell Field and then hops over to Somerville for a Friday tilt. If Hansen has a hard time handcuffing Newton, he'll hardly be ready to follow up against the Greater Boston Leaguers.

This little problem has Coach McLaughlin sitting up nights trying to figure out where he can find a flinger. He has been experimenting with the right-handed George Whitney, regular outfielder, and this fellow may get a starting call Friday. But after Whitney, Rindge's staff consists of the only twirler, Hansen.

Coach McLaughlin doesn't lose any sleep about the rest of the team. He has an all-hockey infield in catcher Dick Kelley, first baseman Dick Anderson, second baseman Pete Messuri, shortstop Augie Messuri and third baseman Bill Bolduc. Kelley, filling in for Dick Zolontowski who joined the Army after Coach McLaughlin had expected to have this experienced receiver back, has been trying his hand at pitching, too, to stem that desperate situation.

The outfield leaves no cause for worry, either, Tony Arena, the hard hitting George Healy, Whitey and Dick Briand take care of all the gardening very well. And it's been victory gardening for them, too, so far.

Rindge's game with Brookline, scheduled for last Friday, will be played off next Monday . . . Wednesday, the Greater Bostons will get back in action with a trio of games . . . these will send Everett to Lowell; Malden to Chelsea and Somerville to Medford . . . the latter should be one of the best tilts of the week, sending the champion Mustangs against the second place Somerville outfit.

Boston schoolboys will be starting their first lessons in golf and tennis tomorrow . . . but meanwhile the baseball teams will continue to pile up results . . . there were five games carded for today and the same number set for Thursday afternoon in their two biggest days . . . out of town games listed Technical at Norwood tomorrow . . . Latin at St. Marks Wednesday . . . and Dorchester at Brockton Saturday.

Tommy Holmes Has .426 Mark

By BILL GRIMES

Although they were unable to get better than an even split with the Phillies yesterday, the Braves retained possession of third place.

★ ★ ★

Bob Quinn and Hal Schacher left this morning for Hartford. The Braves' former president has been watching Manager Merle Settlemire's Hartford candidates work out and he will send the surplus to Mooresville, N. C. tomorrow. Schacher, who has been pitching to Braves batters all spring, is a much better hurler than a year ago and he will be a valuable asset to Manager Settlemire.

★ ★ ★

Andy Karl, who was with the Red Sox a couple of years ago, will be very lucky if he can comb his hair by the first of June. Freddie Fitzsimmons must believe in giving his pitchers plenty of work. He has used Karl in four of the six Phillies-Braves games.

★ ★ ★

When he caught Holmes at the plate in the fourth inning of the second game yesterday, Dick Barrett, the Blue Jays' pitcher (?) jabbed Tommy in the ribs with his left hand and tagged him on the head with the ball. He had better smile, out loud, if he ever tries that stunt on Jim Tobin.

★ ★ ★

There isn't any doubt but that Ken Raffensberger is having arm trouble. He wasn't anywhere near as "quick" yesterday as he was last season and moreover, he used more soft "stuff" than he did in the days when all he had to do to beat the Braves was to reach out his glove.

★ ★ ★

Jimmy Foxx hasn't one chance in a thousand of holding down third base for the Phillies. Jimmy's legs are on their way out. He still takes a pretty good "cut" and his arm is strong but when a ball player's legs go, he's through.

★ ★ ★

General Manager Herb Pennock came to town with his Blue Jays hoping to make a trade with the Braves. The Phillies need infielders but they didn't have any players whom General Manager John Quinn felt would help the Braves.

★ ★ ★

Tom Nelson made his first appearance of the season yesterday. He made a bad throw in each game but on six occasions he tossed out runners. Our guess is that before each bad heave, Tommy remembered that he had a sore arm.

★ ★ ★

Tommy Holmes is off to a great start this season. He has hit safely in eleven games, connecting with a total of 20 hits, including a triple and four two baggers, for an average of .426.

★ ★ ★

Eddie Joost and Frankie Drews will not make this trip with the Braves. Drews will work out daily while the club is in New York and should be ready when the Pittsburgh Pirates open the invasion of Western clubs one week from Wednesday. It will be a fortnight before Joost will be ready.

★ ★ ★

After next Sunday's doubleheader with the Giants in the Polo Grounds, the Braves have two off days. President Ford Frick of the National League is supposed to be arranging an exhibition game between the Braves and Giants at a Greater New York camp.

★ ★ ★

Jim Tabor, the Red Sox third baseman, is home on a furlough from the Army. "Tabe" has a tough looking right hand. During live firing practice, a target fell on Tabor's hand, crippling his little finger and splitting his third finger. And, to further complicate matters, the nail is coming off his thumb of his throwing hand.

★ ★ ★

Paul Mullen, a catcher from Brookline, is on his way to Mooresville, N. C. He's a big kid with plenty of promise.
